ees' Biggest Fans Shouting '¡Vamos!'

By MURRAY SCHUMACH

With the New York Yankees officially in the American League playoff since Saturday night, yesterday was a day of exultation for those most avid of Yankee baseball fans, Puerto Ricans, who are rapidly becoming to the Bronx what the Dodger fans were to Brooklyn.

"We go all the way," Eduardo Gonzalez, of 1714 Webster Avenue in the Bronx, said as he predicted triumpb over the Western Division winners for the first Yankee pennant since 1964. And - with slight besitation - he even predicted. victory over the awesome Cincinnati Reds, last year's champions, for the Yankees' first World Series triumph since 1962

Mr. Gonzalez is one of the thousands whose war cry from deep in the rightfield seats is "Vamos, vamos!" ("Let's go! Let's go!"), and to whom Catfish Hunter is often known as "Gato pescado."

Mr. Gonzalez recalled that last week, as the Baltimore Orioles swept four straight games from the Yankees, some Puerto Rican friends wept on the street near the stadium subway entrance.

"I tell them: Take it easy. They gonna win.' Today I am proud," he said.

Newlyweds Offered Lures To Start Lives in West Berlin

By ELLEN LENTZ Special to The New York Time

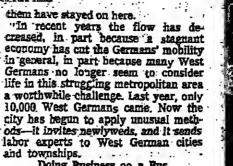

WEST BERLIN, Sept. 26-When Peter and Helene Weber flew in to West Berlin from their Rhineland village a few weeks ago they were welcomed as spe-cial guests of honor by a city official who handed them a bouquet. Mr. Weber, who is a plumber, and his wife, a hairdresser, said they were surprised and gratified.

The newlywed Webers had received the invitation to spend three days getting to know this city under a program. meant to try to curb West Berlin's population losses. City officials hope that young couples like the Webers will decide to settle here.

Through tax incentives, special bonuses for newcomers, Government-supported trips for shideots and other groups of West German citizens, West Berlin is seeking to attract workers to stabilize its economy. Last year the city lost almost 40,000 people, or about 2 percent. Decline Critical in Berlin .

All major German cities are suffering losses in population but the decline is especially marked in this West German island in East Germany. There is no suburban hinterland here to augment the labor force. Until 1961, when the Communists raised the Berlin wall, 60,000 to 70,000 East Germans a day commuted into West Berlin to work in the city's industries. Since then more than 300,000 West Germans have moved to West Berlin to work, but less than balf of

Doing Business oo a Bus At Goslar, a medieval town near the Harz Mountains in West Germany, business was brisk the other day. Two double-decker buses, used in the West Berlin campaign, were parked at a streep corner opposite the railway station, a block from a technical school.

"Do you think you have something for my daughter?" a woman called, peering into the first bus. "She is training to be a teacher and can't find anything here."

Joachim Butzke, a West Berlin offi-cial, told the caller about the West Berlin school situation. Apart from an 8-percent tax rebate that all West Berlin workers enjoy, newcomers receive a special payment to compensate them for costs of moving, and they are given the fare for three weekeed trips home during their first six mooths in West Berlin. A young sales clerk told one of the labor experts that he might like Berlin

'Young Socialist' Assails but Fights for Schmidt'

By CRAIG R. WHITNEY

BONN, Sept. 24-One of Helmut Schmidt's biggest handicaps in the na-tional elections Oct. 3 is middle-class fear of the "Young Socialists" in his party. There are 350,000 of them in the gov-erning Social Democratic Party, and their leader is a 33-year-old schoolteacher, Heidemarie Wieczorek-Zeul (VEE-cho-reck TSOIL), nicknamed "Red Heidi" be-cause of her flaming red hair.

Another man who says he is switching over this year is Dr. Kurt Hornich, princi-pal of the Scholl Sieters School in the industrial city of Mannheim. "I just couldn't stand by and see Marxists take over the party from below," he said; "the younger leftist schoolteachers are all in eague with them, too."

China Power Struggle Seen Continuing as Article Attacks 'Capitalists'

By FOX BUTTERFIELD Special to The New York Times

HONG KONG, Sept. 26-In e sign that the long-standing quarrels among Pek-ing'a leaders are apparently continning, a leading leftist writer insisted today that the current target of the Chinese revolu-tico should ba "the party persons in power taking the capitalist road."

a difference in nuance often carries major political force. There was also a growing belief among the analysts that the continued lack of public information about the disposition of Chairman Mao's body reflects some form of disagreement amoog Pekiog's surviving leaders. Bodies Cremated in Past The chairman's body was last seen on Sept. 17 in a large glass coffin in the Great Hall of the People in Peking. In the past, senior Chinese Communist offi-cials have been cremated, but there has been speculatioo that the Chinese might want to preserve the body for public dis-play the way the Russians did with Lenio and the Vietoamese did with Ho Chin Minh.

The analysts were cautious about draw-ing conclusions from the lack of news about the disposition of the body. They reasoned that if there was a disagreement it might be a genuine dispute over the best way to deal with the problem rather than one involving factional differences. There was one possible indication today that Chang Chun-chiao, a Deputy Prime Minister and one of the four remaining Minister and one of the Standing Committee of the party Bolithuro might be assuming incursions by guerrille forces into Rhodesie and South-West Africa, and they indicated today that the guerrilla war would continue

A statement issued after the heads state left the red-brick state house, somber-looking and refusing any comment; said that the proposals advanced by Prime Minister Smith in a speech to Rhodesigns Friday night had been "carefully

No Contact With Nationalist Leaders

The presidents did not meet with either of the two Rhodesian nationalists who appeared on the scene, Joshua Nkomo, the head of a moderate faction of the African National Council, who has close ties to President Kaunda, and a rival, Bishop Abel Muzorewa. The basic tone of the communiqué was triumphant. Referring to Mr. Smith's reluctant concession to give majority rule within two years, it halled what it termed "the isolation and collapse of the illegal racist minority regime." The statement issued by the presidents. did not list their objections to the propos-als for transition to majority rule in Rho-desia, but their views have become known through conversations with Tan-zanian officials and others over the last two days.

The main objection is to the structure and racial composition of the proposed interim government, as ootlined by Mr. Smith, it would be a two-tier system, consisting of a council of state and a council of ministers.

The council of ministers, which would run the government on a day-to-day basis, would be dominated by blacks. But basis, would be dominated by blacks, but the true power would reside in the coun-cil of state, which would appoint the ministers, and this body would be half black and half white under a white chairman. A provision that decisions would require a two-thirds majority for passage would give the whites automatic blocking

4 Tribal Chiefs in Smith's Cabinet

The fact that Prime Mioister Smith has recently appointed four cooservative tribal chiefs to his Cabinet, asserting that they are trilly representative of the Afri-can people although even many whites concede that they are not, raised fears that the council of state would alternyt to install blacks of the same political concers a conference. The fact that Prime Mioister Smith has government. President Nyerere of Tanzania, the chairman of the African presidents' group, has repeatedly said both publicly and to Mr. Kissinger that an interim gov-ernment must be "an African majority" zovernment. The demand was repeated in the five presidents' statement today.

Skepticism Over Smith's Intentions So skeptical are the African heads of state of Mr. Smith's willingness ever to accept majority rule—giveo his past statements and negotiating record on the issue—that they fear that any traosition al government that remains in white the work for Mr. Smith's speech or hands while a new constitution is being Tridey to be certain, reporters came away drafted would oever carry out the provider with the important, reporters came away back the armed struggle. Still another objection is that Mr. Smith, in his speech, called for negotia-tions involving only the white Rhodesian Government and the Rhodesian national-ists: The African presidents maintain that it is up to Britan, oil paper the recog-nized rater of Rhodesia, and not the rebellious Rhodesian white regime to pre-side at such is meeting. Privately, some African officials ac-knowledge that they are fearful of Mr. Smith's ability to manipulate and prolong negotiations if there is not an outside power on hand, and, in particular, of his capacity to play the feuding Rhodesian nationalists off one against another.

No Mention of Kissinger

The three-page statement formulated by the presidents after their four-and-a-half-hour session made absolutely no mention of. Mr. Kissinger's peace inimention of Mr. Kissinger's peace tiatives

Nor did it say that Mr. Smith had been driven to accept the principle of majority rule within two years because of pressure from the West Rather, it laid the causes to the imposition of sanctions and, most of all, "the victories achieved by the people of Zimbabwe." Zimbabwe is the African nationalist name for Rhodesia. .

Despite the tone, however, the commu-nique was a clear call for talks under the auspices of Britain, Britain had sovereignty over Rhodesia, a self-governing colony, until 1965, when the white minority, now numbering 270,000, declared in-dependence unilaterally to fend off a Brit-lsh demand for sharing power with the black majority, now six million strong. The proposed conference, to set up a transitional government and arrange for a further constitutional conference lead-ing to independence, should be held out-side Rhodesia, the presidents' statement said. As described by Mr. Smith, the interim government would also reserve two criti-cal and sensitive positions, those of minister of defense and minister law and order, to whites. The black Afri-cans, whose struggle has made them sen-sitive to such things, argue that this would place the entire security apparatus in the hands of those who have employed t up to now to suppress the nationalists.

Text of 5 Presidents' Statement

LUSAKA, Zambia, Sept. 26 (Reuters) —Following is the text of the state-ment issued by the presidents of Bots-wana. Angola, Zambia, Mozambique and Tanzania on the agreement ac-cepted last week by Prime Minister Ian D. Smith on the move toward majority rule in Rhodesia:

The struggle of the people of Zim-tarwe, the African and international dativ in the implementation of an tions and coordinated action of all in colonialist forces and states have lapse of the illegal racist minority re-gime in the British colony of Southern lacesia.

The wesidents halled and congratu-lated the people and fighters of Zim-abs, o whose hard and heroic armed struggle forced the rebel regime and he enemy in general to recognize and accept the inevitability of majority rule and the oced to establish immediately a transitional government to implement this principle. Thus the victories achieved by the people of Zimbabwe in their armed struggle created the present favorable conditions for the convening of a constitutional conference.

'Victory for All Africa and Mankind' This is a victory for all Africa and mankind and particularly for all those countries and peoples who made sacri-fices so that the brotherly people of Zimbabwe can be free. Now that the pressures of armed struggle have forced the enemy to accont majority rule as a condition for immediate independence, the five presi-dents call upon the colonial anthority, the British Government, to convene at cince a conference outside Zimbabwe with the authentic and legitimate representatives of the people:

(A) To discuss the structure and functions of the transitional govern-

(B) To establish the transitional gov-

(C) To discuss the modalities for con-vening a full constitutional conference to work out the independence constitu-

(D) To establish the basis upon which ace and normalcy can be restored in the territory.

Two Phases Are Envisaged

To achieve these goals two phases are envisaged. The first phase will deal with the establishment of an African majority transitional government. The second phase will be concerned with working out the details of the Zim-babwe independence constitution.

The presidents have carefully studied the proposals as outlined by the illegal and racist regime which if accepted, would be tantamount to legalizing the colonialist , and racist structures of power. Any details relating to the structure and functions of the transi-tional government should be left to the Conference

Conference. The five presidents reaffirmed their commitment to the cause of liberation in Zimbabwe and the armed struggle. A luta continua. [The struggle continues.]

on its knees to the Arabs?

Intro

It's unfortunate that although the Mobil Oil Company's corporate body is in this country, its heart and soul are someplace else: In the Middle East. Because the Mobil Oil Company of "America" does not oppose a boycott which is trying to make American business knuckle under to the Arabs' will. But before we get to Mobil's reasons, let's discuss the boycott first.

In an attempt to wage an economic war on Israel, the Arabs first boycotted Israel by refusing to have any dealings with her.

That's the Arabs' business.

But then, the Arabs started telling American companies that if they dealt with Israel, these companies wouldn't be allowed to deal with the Arabs.

That's our business. Not only because the Arabs are trying to disrupt our economy by forcing our companies to meet their demands.

But, and this is far worse, by trying to force certain American companies to stop dealing with other American companies on the Arabs' blacklist.

What this amounts to is pitting Americans against Americans to achieve Arab goals.

And it also means the pitting of American companies against the best interests of the American people.

Mobil Oil Company is one of these companies.

As unbelievable as it may sound it is clear to us that Mobil is in support of the Arabs' attempt to control the American tradition we all know as free enterprise.

Why?

Well, Mobil Oil says it fears that if we oppose the boycott America could be "reduced to a second-rate economic power." (This quote was taken from a Mobil advertisement discussing the Arab boycott in the New York Times, September 16th, '76.)

But that's not really what Mobil fears, nor do we, for we all know that America can never become a second rate economic power, whether the Arabs have anything to do with us or not.

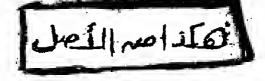

What Mobil really fears is this: that if Mobil stands up with the United States against the boycott, something might happen to Mobil's profits from Arab oil.

Which makes it pretty apparent that profit is more important to Mobil than American principles are.

No American company's bankbook should become more important than its own conscience.

Or its own country.

TRIPOLI, Libya, Sept. 20-The Libyan dream of a good life is marred by one basic flaw: a shortage of manpower at all levels.

"I wonder if we can ever be self-sufficient in traioed personnel," Omar Muotassar, director of the national oil company, said, calling manpower the country's principal problem.

A recent study shows that it is in-creasingly dependent on foreign labor. In 1975 foreigners accounted for 32.9 percent of the labor force of 691,000. The projectioo for 1980 is that 40 per-cent will be foreigners, half of them Egyptians.

It is estimated there are 300,000 Egyptians and their families in the country now, working as farmhands, construc-tion workers, guards, teachers and technical personnel. Other large contingents come from Eastern Europe-Bul-garia, Poland, Yugoslavia and Rumania. They send their workers over on contract to build roads, hospitals, housing and airports after underbldding West-ern European contractors and then gaining admiration for the quality of their work.

The Americans are still providing most of the technicians for the oil in-dustry end new technology for agricul-tural development. British, West Germao, French and Canedian concerns are vying for industrial contracts.

"We still have e long way to go be-fore we are self-sufficient in trained personnel," said Dr. Sami al-Nawal, director of the Social Security Insti-tute's general hospital, opened this month.

Dr. Nawal accompanied visitors on a tour of the handsome American-de-signed 610-bed institution. The equip-ment and medicine, even the furniture, are the best that money could buy, he are said.

Most Doctors to be Foreigners

There will be 116 doctors-Egyp-tian, Indian, Pakistani, French, British and other nationalities-when the bos-pital is in full operation, according to the director. He has only five Libyan doctors with four others doing post-graduate study abroad graduate study abroad.

The problem of mirses is worse, for the hospital will need 478. There are no Libyan mirses there now, and only 40 Libyan student murses. The rest are foreigners, including Chinese. The shortage of nurses arises because only 5 percent of Libyan women are in the labor force. Though there is a substantial increase in girls in school, most take up the traditional secluded life after education is complete.

nection with the attempt to hijack an Egyptian airliner flying tourists from Cairo to Luxor last month. Three of the hijackers were sentenced to hard labor for life, but all were acquitted of charges f conspiring with Libya.

"We make a convenient scapegoat be-cause we are outspoken," the Minister said. "Next they will be accusing us of hijackings on the moon."

Denying the widespread charges that Libya is involved in subversive activities in other Arab countries, Mr. Zwai assert-ed: "The main source of our problems with the rest of the Arab world is peo-ple's democracy. The Arabs/want it but their governments think it is a threat to their power."

Firmly in Command at Home

Finally in Command at Home Despite quarrels with neighbors, Colonel Qaddafi is said to be firmly in common at home, He still has significant popular support among urban workers and the Bedouins. For them he is the man who challenged the oil companies, ousted the Italian colonists, got rid of the British and American military bases and can stand up to Mr. Sadet. Practice Criticized

For the most part, editors of daily rewspapers and managers of state press associations deplored the linking of news articles to advertising revenues. "It's one practice we don't consider ethical," said William Bray, executive director of the Missouri Press Association, but added that a press association could not dictate to an individual newspaper what it should or should not do.

By BOYCE RENSBERGER

Researchers at Oregon State University have found that by changing the type of bacteria that colonize the roots of soybean plants, it may be possible to increase the plant's yield by as much as 10 percent. The bacteria in soybean roots act as fertilizer factories by extracting nitrogen from the air and fixing it in compounds that can nourish the plant. Further research is needed to confirm the preliminary findings. If they are correct, the development would represent one of the few substantial increases in many years in the potential yield of soybeans, one of the world's major food CTODS.

The findings are based on the discovery by the Oregon State scientists that the bacterial strains commonly found in soy-

Canapé Principle in Bidding Modified by Italian Players By ALAN TRUSCOTT There was a winning road at this point. If South had led to the heart Many European experts, and a few oo this tide of the Atlantic, use the king, discarded a space on the diamond king, ruffed the diamond jack and led canapé principle io opening the bidding: They bid a short suit, and keep a longer suit io reserve. Carlo Mosca and Silvio Sbarigiz, two highly talented young Italians who were members of the team that just failed to win the world Olympiad team title in Monte a spade, he would have end played East. But this would have depended on finding one opponent with the chub queen and the K-Q-J of spades, a most unlikely state of affairs in the light of the bidding. Carlo this year, employ a surprising extension of the canape concept. Dummy's Diamonds Preserved They use canapé overcalls, and car-ried this strange notion to extremes on the diegramed deal from a European It seemed almost cerain that both defenders held a high spade, and that the player who did not have the club championship. If the defense had led spades and continued the suit, the declarer would have had no chance. But after leading the spade ace, West shifted unwisely to the diamond ace, no doubt hoping to find his partner short in that suit. South ruffed happily, and was now somewhat nearer 11 tricks. But one

Canal Treaty in Peril

It would be an unspeakable tragedy if a new Panama Canal treaty-an imperative for future United States relations with Latin America-should become a casualty of the American Presidential campaign; but errors and excesses io both countries bave made this an alarming possibility.

The New York Times

ADOLPH S. OCHS, Publisher 1896-1935

ARTHUR HAYS SULZBERGER, Publisher 1835-1961

ORVIL E. DRYFOOS, Publisher 1961-1963

Panama's "supreme leader," Gen. Omar Torrijos Herrera, faces the worst crisis of bis eight years in power in part because the Canal treaty negotiations-which he had predicted would be successfully concluded late this year or early in 1977-have been in recess since May. The Panamanians accepted the necessity for adjourning the talks until after the major American party conventions, but say they had expected to resume discussions this month.

Ronald Reagan's demagogic accusation during the primary campaign that President Ford was planning to "give away" the Canal and Zone-a charge that aroused all the latent jingoism on the right wing-has made the Administration reluctant to reopen the negotiations uotil after the November election. But this obvious hiatus on the most combustible of political issues for Panamanians is highly embarrassing for General Torrijos. It greatly increases the vulnerability of a Governmeot already buffeted from many sides because of an economic. recession marked by inflation, rising unemployment and higher taxes. Left-wing students were ostensibly protesting sharp rises in the prices of milk and rice when they launched the demonstrations two weeks ago that brought serious clashes with the National Guard and forced the closing of Panama'a National University. Faced with such defiance from a sector that had giveo him strong support, General Torrijos fell back oo a traditional Latin American whipping boy. His Government charged the United States with responsibility for the student riots and said this was part of a "destabilization plan" for Panama. Officials hinted that Americans in the Canal Zone might be trying to provoke an incident that could give President Ford an excuse for a bellicose intervention that might give an emotional boost to his electioo campaign.

The long delay in negotlations because of the Presidential race is regrettable enough. Serious political instability in Panama-partly due to that delay-might be fatal. It is up to President Ford to seed Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker back to Panama to resume the treaty talks; and it is up to General Torrijos to cool his own brand of jingoism, as he has done so successfully and responsibly in the past.

Another Warsaw Retreat

The Polish Government announced the other day that it is abandoning all plans to increase basic food prices until at least mid-1978. This is the latest and ways most impressive retreat of the Warsaw regime before the anger of Polisb workers so violently expressed last June during the short-lived effort to raise food prices. The magnitude of the retreat is illustrated in the case of meat prices. Oo June 25 it was announced they were to be increased 69 percent, an order rescinded within hours after the riots had begun. A few weeks ago a "compromise" solution was announced: Meat and poultry prices would increase "only" 35 percent. Now even that step has been abandooed and basic food prices are to remain the same for another two years. Such a drastic rescission is explicable only in terms of fear that any effort to raise food prices would generate such violent resistance that Poland would be plunged into civil war. That would inevitably mean the direct intervection of the tens of thousands of Soviet troops in Poland, with the end result that Warsaw would be ruled -as Prague is now-by a clique resting only oo Soviet bayoncts. Even the Roman Catholic Church in Poland -suffering from discrimination and disabilities as it isfears auch internal strife and has thrown its weight on the side of stability. It is supporting the Gierek regime as the lesser evil for the moment. It is now almost 30 years since Communist rule was fastened on Poland by the Soviet Army against the will of the majority of the Polish people. An entire generation has come to maturity since then, but the Communists are finding Poland as indigestible now as earlier conquerors found it to be during the 18th and 19th centuries. The final irony is that probably Moscow is picking up the check for the billions of dollars it must be costing to maintain Poland's present uneconomically low prices, which in no way reflect either the supply-demand situation in Poland or the inflation of the 1970's.

properties in the city-that is, the tax as a percentage of the true market value-is more than double the rate levied on resideotial properties. The reason for this discrepancy is that the city, like most surrounding communities, continues to assess different classes of property at different percentages of market value, even though the law demands that all property be assessed at 100 percent of market value.

The report also exposes glaring inequities within classes of property in the different boroughs. For example, the effective tax rate per $100 full valua on residential property in Manhattan this year is $4.31. Comparable rates in the other boroughs are: the Bronx $2.81, Queens $2.11, Brooklyn $2.11 and Staten Island $2.20. Effective rates oo industrial property range from $6.51 in Manhattan to $2.90 on Staten Island.

While pleading for relief from Washington, New Yorkers cannot afford to neglect their own responsibility to reform a tax structure which penalizes productive properties.

Ouestions on Vaccine

The United States Government is about to begin an unprecedented campaign of mass immunizations by vaccine against swine influenza, a disease still conspicuous by its absence. Several recent news items strengthen our impression that on flu and other vaccines there is less certainty and knowledge than one would like to bave prior to the initiation of a program whose goal is the vaccination of virtually every man, woman and child in this country.

Down in South Carolina the other day, Dr. Albert Sabin made plain his opposition to the immunization campaign when there is no visible epidemic of any sort. He added that the jet-injector guns that will be widely used in an assembly-line procedure may themselves spread disease.

The swine flu vaccines that have been produced for the campaign were originally expected to have antibodies that would trigger off two lines of immuoological defense against the disease should it strike a vaccinated individual. However, Scieoce magazine reports that the vaccines that bave been produced lack an essential elemeot-for reasons not really understood-and hence can be counted upon to trigger only one of the two lines of defense.

There is disagreement about how much this will limit the vaccine's effectiveness, but the whole story has an ironic footnote: A few months ago there was much publicity about the two million doses of "wrong vaccine" produced by one manufacturer. But now there is some evidence that because that vaccine triggers off both lines of defense, it could conceivably provide more total protection than the "right" vaccine.

In Washington, a group of scientists including Dr. Jonas Salk have testified that most of the handful of cases of polio that have occurred in this country since the early 1960's have probably been the byproduct of the live polio vaccine which is standard bere. In Finland and Sweden there have been no cases of polio for more than a decade, but in those countries the killed virus vaccine-developed by Dr. Salk-is used exclusively. Some Washington medical officials seem appalled that their judgment in this matter is being questioned, but we think Senator Edward M. Kennedy performed a significant service in helping bring this suppressed, but important, controversy back to public attention.

How to Combat Nuclear Proliferation

To the Editor:

Bernard Feld's and Victor Weisskopf's self-congratulatory Sept. 14 Op-Ed article about the role of scientists in fighting the accumulation of nuclear weapons shows that they still bave their beads in the sand about the causes of the present danger of nuclear proliferatioo and consequent danger of nuclear war.

The present danger is that certain countries, e.g. South Korea, Talwan, Israel, South Africa and possibly Pakistan, are now in a situation whereby their best chance of survival is to develop independent nuclear deterrents. This was caused by the collapse of the credibility of unilateral U.S. guarantees and the unwillingness of Western Europe, Japan, Australia and New Zealand to take part in any genuine collective security arrangement involving any of these countries. Wheni the policeman quits everyone must defend himself as best he can. Of course, an ordinary American can't be sure that any of these countries has a nuclear weapons program. However, were I a citizen of any of them who considered national independence worth preserving, I would feel that my country has as much right as the U.S. to a nuclear deterrent. Moreover, I would consider worthless any promises Kissinger and Ford might make while so many Americans oppose assistance. The other side of Kissinger's policy-threatening withdrawal of the little aid we are giving if they go ouclear-woo't work either unless carried to the extreme of helping their enemies conquer them. Denying or in-specting nuclear power plants won't work, because weapons can be made without diverting material from power plants.

Further proliferation will start when one of these countries is seen to survive by demonstrating a deterrent. Every country's officers will then demand their own

To the Editor:

Your Sept, 7 editorial "Taiwan's A-Bomh" is inaccurate and misleading. You write, "If the Chinese Nationalists have set out to make atomic bombs in the first known violation of the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty (N.P.T.)-and have succeeded in deceiving the inspection system of the International Atomic Energy Agencya profound reappraisal will be needed for Washington's . . . nonproliferation strategy and its nuclear export controis.

You then imply that all nuclear facilities and materials in Taiwan have been submitted to LA.E.A. safeguards. In fact, there is no safeguards agreement between Taiwan and LA.E.A. requiring LAEA safeguards on all nuclear material on that island. The reason is that Taiwan's "expulsion" as you call it, took place before the N.P.T. safeguards agreemeot could be concluded. Our current safeguards on the island stem from a tripartite (U.S./Taiwan/I.A.E.A.) agreement, covering plant and ouclear material supplied by the United States; and an agreement whereby Taiwan submitted a Canadian-supplied research reactor and its fuel and produced material to I.A.E.A. safeguards. In the following paragraphs you imply that Taiwan has evaded these

Taxing the Economy

Municipal Assistance Corporation chairman Felix Rohatyn warned the other day that high and steeply rising realty taxes were undermining the rescue of New York City's economy. To avert this threat, he proposed a Federal loan guarantee program that would enable the city to stretch out its massive accumulation of debt and thus to reduce annual debt service charges which must be paid out of property tax revenues, Mayor Beame also is reported to be looking for ways to cut taxes in conjunction with a new economic development program. Cutting property taxes through a debt stretchout is a desirable goal. The question is whether, in view of its dependeocc on Federal help, it is a goal attainable in the near future. There is another way, bowever, io which the city can-aod should-move on its own to ease the negative impact of high property levies: reform of an inequitable-and illegal-real estate assessment system that places the heaviest tax burden on income-producing properties.

The Center for Local Tax Research this week threw some fresh light on this problem in a report which shows that the effective rate paid on industrial and commercial 28

State of the Arts

The cultural bubble of the 1960's has never really burst; contrary to rumor and recession, the arts are flourishing in America. It is a curious, perverse flowering, in which creativity and nihilism are often equated, but what both fine and performing arts lack in easy comprehensibility is made up in intellectual ferment, productive energy and very real achievement.

This tendeocy has been given additional thrust by the Bicentennial, which has produced a galaxy of exhibitions on American art and history, with rare insights into the relationships of past and preseot, of European roots and American contributions.

It is tragic that just at this time of supremacy the arts are seriously threatened by a shortage of funds and support. State Arts Councils, firmly established in the last decade, are forced to deal with drastic budget cuts. Private and business help for the arts is drying up. Museums, seeing endowments evaporate, seek radical solutions, such as the Museum of Modern Art's entry into real estate, cushioned by an innovative cultural trust. Libraries close their doors, institutions shorten their hours, programs are truncated, opportunities disappear.

Those palaces of culture that the 60's built with auch profligacy are struggling with awesome deficits at the same time that artistic activities undreamed of ten years ago fill their halls. Museums still expand with striking buildings, while their exhibitions must be underwritten by corporate donations.

But programs continue, with ingenuity substituting for extravagance. More than half of the construction grants given by the National Endowment for the Arts are going for the adaptive use of existing buildings, from New York's Sailor's Snug Harbor to the Old City Hall of Lincoln, Nebraska. Movie theaters become concert halls, railroad stations are turned into community cultural centers, landmarks are given new creative life. In adversity, the arts are pulling a beritage together.

If all this is bappening in ecocomic extremis, the arts are clearly one of this country's major strengths and sources of vitality. Recognizing this, New York City has put its cultural and economic assets together in a newly established Department of Cultural Affairs. But the role of the arts needs restudy on every level. At a time of extraordinary achievement, support is more urgent than ever.

eral Contract Compliance Program which would permit companies to satisfy affirmative-action requirements by training women and minority workers for skilled jobs without being obliged to hire them (oews story Sept. 16).

In those areas where there is an acute labor shortage, training programs may indeed lead to increased job opportunities. In most areas, however, the problem is not a shortage of potential women and minority employees, but rather the preference of employers for white, male workers. Since women and minority members were often denied entry-level jobs in the past, it is not surprising that there are relatively few now available for promotion. The solution to the problem lies in an emphasis on hiring rather than merely on training.

Training opportunities will do littla to overcome reluctance to hire. In most fields they will increase the number of women and minority workers who cannot find employment commensurate with their training and ahility. Unless training programs are linked to hiring requirements, the proposed regulations will result in a regrettable retreat from the goal of equal opportunity for employees of Federal contractors.

Schools: The Ratio Riddle

To the Editor: Amid all the talk of New York City's disastrous cuts to education, the data reveal that there are 1.1 milllon students in the city's public school system and 47,000 teachers. On average, this comes to 23.4 students per teacher.

It seems plausible that some teachers have special assignments that en-

A Testament

On Tuesday, Orlando Leteller, who was Chilean Foreign Minister in the Government of President Salvador Allende Gossens, was killed in Washington when a bomb exploded in his car. He had been a leader of Chilean political exiles in the United States who opposed the military junta that overthrew President Allende in 1973. He wrote the following article for the Op-Ed page of The New York Times, at his own initiative, a few days before

WASHINGTON - Oo Sept. 10 the Chilean dictator Augusto Pinochet Is-sued Decree No. 588, which strips me of my nationality, for "gravely threat-ening the essential interests of the state." This measure is just one more addition to the shameful history of the violation of human rights committed dictatorships, political rights have frequently been denied to critics and oppooents. The Chilean junia, not to be ootdone as leader in the field of such violations, has made the entire Chilean population a victim through a dictatorship. We do it es members of a oation and as inheritors of a tradition of freedom to which the Pinochets do not belong.

The thiogs that destroy our nationality are tha concentration camps, torture, repressioo and bunger. That which makes us vulnerable as a nation is the utilization of the armed forces against the Chilean people. It is all this hrutal conduct and not the actions of those who want to put an end to it that isoletes us todey from the community of civilized nations. The image of Chile will return to what it ooce was wheo democracy is re-established along with the bumao rights that bave heen usurped by the dictators. At that moment no one will be in any doubt about the netionality of the Chileans who are in power today. Oo the contrary, as such they will be made to answer to Chilean trihunals in accordance with the Chilean judicial system for crimes committed against their country.

Depression of the 40's?

By William Safire

WASHINGTON-Was the same "ainister force" thet erased 18 minutes of the Nixon tapes at work on the sound system of the Ford-Carter debate?

Was Gene McCarthy, voodoo doll in hand, able to prove thet the debate was not "TV coverage of an event" by the mere sticking of e pin?

Was it wise for ABC to give Richard Nixoo's long unemployed old makeup man a job in audio engineering? ----

Was it mere coincidence that the live mikes in Philadelphia went cmharrassingly dead on the same day the dead mikes in the House of Representatives went embarrassingly liveor are the Martians telling us to quit tickling their planet?

Whatever the cause, the 27 minutes of the loudest silence in the bistory of broadcasting offered Jimmy Carter a golden opportunity that will never come again.

General awkwardness was rampant; a worldwide eudience wes looking for some relief from tension; a red-faced industry wes begging for some light touch of forgiveness; all eyes and ears were on Jimmy Carter, whose turn it was when the sound came back on, to come up with that graceful, Kennedyesque remark that would show him to be human and natural.

'I-notice the interruption took place as soon as we mentioned the C.LA.," he might have quipped. Or "Llocoln and Douglas never bad this problem." No great inspiration was needed, a simple "As I was saying " would have shown be was out frozen to his briefing, book, unable to bandle the unexpected. But never was heard a spontaneous word, acknowledgiog the moment; insteed, as if nothing hed happened, Mr. Carter went into a hrief slogan about secrecy like a well-programmed robot, and theo recited his staoderd stump speech et the end.

That was Mr. Carter's worst debate mistake. By failing to step up to the challenge, by being supercentious, be passed up his chance to recoup. This botched opportunity took place et the end, not in Mr. Carter's nervous beginning, which the legend-manufactuters are making out to be the ooly time of Carter weakness.

The Carter rescue squad is selling the line that their man's weak beginning was compenseted by a strong close (just as Nixon men tried to do In 1960). Pet Caddell, Mr. Carter's chief public relations strategist and surely the most respected pollster in Saudi Arabia, wes grabbing the lapels of every reporter in sight to insist his mao had not lost-that the Ford victory they hed seen with their own eyes could charitahly be called e draw. Certainly the Carter uptightness the 1940's."

was exposed early, when he came up with the only outright hlooper of the debate, complaining about "the Great Depression of the 1940's."

Now, it is Mr. Carter's privilege to call Democrat Lyndon Johnsoo "a liar and e cheat" in a Playboy interview. hut to characterize Democrat Franklin Roosevelt's economic policics as "the Great Depression of the 1940's"that's hitting below the belt.

Of course, it should be dismissed as a mere verbal slip. But put the shoe on the other foot: Imagine the guifaws and delighted cries of "That dunderhead!" if President Ford, and not Mr. Carter, hed taken the Depressioo out of the 30's and placed it in the 40's.

In the all-important impression of stabillty and trustworthiness, President Ford won the debate. However, Mr. Carter is drawing cveo in the press interpretation: "Mixed Reviews," says one headline, "Regarded as Draw," says another. It's a lucky thing it was televised, or we might never know what really happened.

The gentle interpretetion of Mr. Carter's weakness is cushioniog the shock to his campaign. My frieod and colleague, columnist William Shannon, looked at a Roper poil that showed people judged Ford to be the winner by 39 percent to 31 percent for Car-ter, and the remaining 30 percent un-decided. Undaunted by figures that might depress most Democrats, he worked this around into "61 percent of those polled thought that the debate was a draw or a Carter victory."

Such aggressive defense will go a long way; in politics, e myth is as good as a smile. But Mr. Carter's smile, when asked about this dcbate, is like that of a polite Freochman asked for his opinion of American President Ford has shown himself to be rock-solid and steady uoder the kind of stress that was a bit too much for his opponent. The dehate's ooly plus, from the poiot of view of the Carter camp, is that it mey have taken the public's mind off hlunders thet bad been starting to snowball.

He has had to apologize to George Wallace for calling his fellow Southerner the most unpopular politician in America, and he is husily apologizing to Texas Democrats for baving said what he really thinks ehout Lyndon Johnson as "a bar and e cheat." And now it's F.D.R.'s turn. Perhaps Mr. Carter Is Freudian-slipping us the truth: Had it oot beeo for World War II putting jobless men to work and into uniform, we might iddeed heve seen "the Great Depression of

be workable. Multinational facilities would legitision since the in- mize the argument of nonparticipating countries that their national plutonium facilities and stockpiles are peaceful. They would sopply participating nonweapons states with large amounts of usable plutonium in the form of fresh fuel. And they would provide oppor-tunities for the clandestine diversion of plutonium, targets for expropriation, and the means of spreading reprocessing technology.

We believe the evidence is now in. For, two decades the United States has promoted atomic power around the globe. Now our policy must be one of containing and reversing the harm that has been done.

We should seek to establish international control of the plutonium that has been produced in the reactors that are already operating. We should commit ourselves to help other nations develop nonfission means of meeting their energy needs. And we should unequivocally reject the idea that plutonium should ever be reprocessed and thereby removed from the protection of the intensely radioactive wastes with which it is mixed in used reactor fuel A United States decision authorizing plutonium use would obviously be inconsistent with these policies. We cannot expect other nations to forgo plutonium if we do not.

An argument advanced by the nue accumulated this . clear industry is that regardless of ourdecisioo other nations will export nuclear technology. This argument pose is grave but fails for several reasons. First, it implies that the United States should not exercise its moral leadership if there is a chance other countries will not follow us. Second, it implies that other countries will not recognize and seek the benefits inherent in the United States policy. Third, it overlooks the political and economic leverage the United States could use to influence the nongroliferation policies of other countries-for example, trade and economic-assistance policies and measures to enhance regional stability. And finally, it neglects the fact that nuclear power is questioned as vigorously abroad as here.

Substantial oppositioo to nuclear power exists in all countries of Western Europe, in Japan and Australia. If the United States turns its back on plutonium, that action will have a catalytic effect on world opinion.

decree that ordered the hurning of the country's electoral register. In fact, all the citizenship rights of the population have been destroyed.

Today, having exhausted this repressive mechanism they can only resort to the absurdity of pretending that those who oppose their designs are no longer part of the Chilean nation

Needless to say, this decree violates the intent of the Constitution that applied in Chile before the rule of law was destroyed there on Sept. 11, 1973, together with the norms of international law, especially Article 15 of the Declaration of Human Rights of the United Nations. This action has no precedent in our history. Never bave governments vested themselves with the authority to confer or take away Chilean nationality at will.

Because of my position as Minister of State and Ambassador Ito the United States] of the constitutional Government of Chile, I was incarcerated in the concectratioo camp on Dawson, Island until I was expelled. from the country without any formal charges ever being mada against me. I was not granted any of the hasic rights guaranteed by the Constitution or by the laws of my country.

Among other violations, I was deprived of my passport and thus of my. status as a Chilean abroad. Many of my fellow countrymen were subjected. to the same arbitrary measures.

It would seem, then, that this decree constitutes a complete absurdity. But behind it one sees the logic of e totalitarian mentality, that it projects itself from within a system based oo terror and vengeance. Its purpose is to intimidate those who fight from abroad for the restoration of human rights, freedom and democracy in Chile. It tries to erase a whole sector of Chileans from the history of our country, to eliminate the protagonists of a social and political ideal with deep roots in our history, which has survived persecution and is today the emblem of the struggle against tyranny. What the junta is fighting is not so much the men who three years ago led a democratic Government but rather the ideas we represent. What they are denying is the nationality of values," such as Chilean democracy, that for 150 years constituted an example for Latin America and for the world.

What they are attempting to destroy are the political parties that channeled the aspirations of the Chilean people, its trade-union organizations, and its coovivial wey of life, based on the free play of ideas and respect for the human being.

Accordingly, to Pinochet none of this has any place within the Chilean nationality, and the fascist ideology that Pinochet professes can be seen in this most delirious expression of his fanaticísm. The patriotic obligation of all Chileans is to contribute to the end of the

New Fad: 'Creative' Phone Messages

By JUDY KLEMESRUD

"Hello, John's been taken in front of the golactic council, and he wants you to leave your name, number and grid coordinates so he can return your call by hydrophone as soon as the quark storm has subsided."

The above concoction, by John Avildsen, the film director, is an example of a new end sometimes creative fad - highly personalized "I've-gottabe-me" type of messages that squawk from New Yorkers' telephone answering machines,

These messages, rarely longer than a minute and designed to elicit messages from people who call the machines' owners, contain musical fanfares paetry, screams, laughter, animal noises, sci-fi sound effects, foreign languages, ethnic accents and, occasionally, the kind of comments that make the messages X-rated.

"My dear, in previous incarnatians on different continents, I was orchivist, high priestess, philosopher-queen. Well, yau ask, how come I'm naw a mere telephane answering machine? I'm being punished for a sin so delicious you'd be sinning just ta know about it. Ta become human again, 1 must be the best telephone answering machine I can be. Help me hy leaving your name, with the beep tone."-Joy Elliott, a United Notions correspondent far Reuters.

One Million in Use

Many messages are, of course, cut and dried, informing the caller that soand-so isn't home right now and the caller should please leave a message

But with the proliferation of these machines in the last few years--industry sources say there are now more than a million in use in the United States and that sales are growing at about 35 percent a year-more andmore people have come around to messages that are funny or weird or psychological explanations of why the per-soa feit the need for the machine in the first place.

What is the fascinatioo of telephone answering machloes? The most frequent answer from people who own one is that they were fed up with the poor performance of telephone answering services, where calls often go unan-swered until the 12th ring, and then. when they are answered, the harried, overworked operator often puts the caller on hold,

"Never Put on Hold"

"The machines answer on the first ring," said one owner, "and they never put anybody on hold." "I'm sick of thinking of something clever to say to omuse you while we woit until the beep goes off. That's all I have to say; I don't understand anything about life anymare. Speak to me!"-David Marlow, o novclist (who changes his messages olmost gyery changes his messages olmost every way,' she says to me. Oy, oy, ay. Have you ever heard such clichés? Meanwhile, if perhaps you would like she should call you later, leave your name and number after the beep tane, darling, ond I'm sure Miss Woodstock will get back to you."-Denny Dillon, actress.

Owner Has Options

Another advantage of the answering machines is that they allow the owner to hear who is calling as the message given, giving the owner the option answering the call at the mament, returning it later, or never returning It at all

All this is for the good, according to Dr. Joyce Brothers, the psychologist. "Since we're so close to each other in terms of physical space, we need an emotional space," spe said. "The machine provides this, because you can stand by the phone and have the ma-chine answer it and you know who is calling: so this is a way of providing privacy. We tune people out with these gadgets, and from the point of view of emtional stahility, that's good." (In the form of a ploylet, with the machine owner impersonating bath a squeaky-voiced young hoy and o crotchety ald man): "Hi, this is Sidney Davis's grandsan. Sidney Davis isn't in right now." [Background sounds of elderly man grabbing away the phane] "Here, give me the phane. Sidney's prabably out gallivantin' with some shiksah. Leave a message so he don't get aggravated. Now wait for the heep."--Sidney Davis, comedy writer. heep."---Sidney Davis, comedy writer. Dr. Ahraham Jankowitz, a Manhat-tan psychiatrist who uses ane of the machines in his office, said be thought they were valuable because they "fa-by making it mare possible to give and receive messages," he explained.

On the negative side, many machine owners say that callers frequently hang up because they are either annayed hy such an impersonal enswer or arc reluctant to talk to a machine. These "hang-ups" result in a long, monoio-nous recarded dial tone on the machine that makes many owners irate.

"Don't be tricky. This machine will recognize your dial tane and get you right back. So you might as well leave a message,"-Jacob Brackman, screenwriter.

To try to combat the "hang-ups," some owners use a coddling, psy-chological approach designed to per-suade callers to be polite and leave a message rather than slamming down the receiver. (In on earnest, soothing tone): "When you hear the beep, please leave your name ond number and I'll get back to you as soon as I can. I really will, No, really. No. really I will, just . . . go ahead."-Marvin Hamilsch, the composer.

Some Messages Secondary Sometimes the elaborate beginnings and endings of a recorded message are more interesting than the messages themselves. For example, a former Army paratrooper who lives on Long Island precedes his message with re-corded noise fram airplane engines, fol-"Stand in the door. Go!" This is fol-lawed by the pops of parachutes open-ing and then a musical fanfare. And David Amram, the composer, a ends his canventional message with strange musical sounds he makes with his mouth. But sometimes the message is neither humarous nor weird-just nice to listen ta. (Sung to the tune of the hit song "Feelings"): "Feelings. Please don't luar my feelings. Leave your name and number, and I'll get back ta you . . ." -Ronny Whyte, a pianist.

President Ford won the debate, accord-ing to a poll conducted by The New York Times and CBS News. Although many politicians and political analysts thought the meeting with Jimmy Carter was a draw, 37 percent of the 1,167 voters asked by the poll thought the President had won. Mr. Carter was supported hy 24 percent and 35 percent considered it to be a draw. The poll also showed that the President had roughly cut in half the lead Mr. Carter held in the previous poll. American foreign policy was assailed by Senator Mondale as frequently being "indiffarent to people seeking greater justice." The Democratic Vice-Presidential candidate said that the United States could no longer impose its view-point on the world, but could nat escape being one of the world's leaders. He said that the country needed a new policy with greater concern for the "so-called third world." [1:1-2.]

Two separate air crashes killed at least 26 persons in northern Michigan and Virginia. An Air Force KC-135 tanker crashed and exploded in a remote section of Michigan near Lake Huron. Air Force officials said that 15 persons were killed and that 5 others had been takeo to a hospital. In Virginia, all 11 persons aboard an executive jet belonging to the Johnson & Johnson Corporation died when the plane fell short of a runway. [18:4-5.]

King cotton is making a comeback in the South through new marketing techniques and product research. A decade ago cotton was dethroned by polyester, a man-made fiber, but a strong program of promotion has lifted cottom prices to their highest levels on record. All of this is good news for cotton planters who have sharply increased the acreage planted in the crop. [51:1-4.]

Corporations have found a new tool to. use in their lobbying efforts against proposala that could adversely affect them. The new tool is their own employees and the corporations have been making increasing use of it. One of the most extensive such campaigns was ace recently sponsored by the Rockwell International Corporation urging their employees to help keep the B-1 bomber project alive. 151:5-6.1

Many fanciers of the answering machines say they like the "fun" and "technological challenge" of the de-vices, which range in cost from $150 to $900. The mare advanced machines can be operated by remote caotrol from a telephone anywhere in the world

All the caller has to do is call his home number, place a pocket-sized remote-control transmitter against the telephone mouthpiece, press a little red button oo the transmitter, and the machine at home will begin to play back the messages the caller has received in his absence. Some machines can also crase and re-record new messages by remote control.

Danbury High, Once Racially Split, Is 'New School' Today

By LAWRENCE FELLOWS

DANBURY. Conn .-- A year ago Danhury High School was torn by fighting between black and white students. The trouble had stirred for days and finally, on Oct. 1, erupted into a huge brawl, with students swinging belts and chains and throwing stones and chairs end whatever else they could pick up or tear loose.

State troopers and the town police from Ridgefield and Bethel had to be called in to help the Danbury police restore order. Eight students and four policemen were injured, and 16 stu-dents were suspended from school.

There is no single established lunch period anymore, no split periods that fill the balways with students every in school last year at the time of the fighting.

"Right now I think everything's all right," he said. "There ain't nobody in the halls to start nothing. The hig problem last year was everybody hanging around in the halls. When everything started, I just went home. Let's put it this way: I'm friends with everybody.

William Ryan, the principal, said the new sophomores began school this year a day aheed of the others, to give them a day to get acquainted with building so they would feel a hit more secure wheo everyone else arrived.

Among other changes, any group of 25 students can form an organization, end get representation on the student council. Mr. Ryan said. An Afro-Ameri-can Club is being formed now.

Four blacks are on the 100-member school band; there had been none before. There is a black cheerleader now, another "first."

In the main, Mr. Ryan said, the students are stronger individuals than their bad experience at Danbury High

"We bave our cultural differences, sure, but we're all residents of New York and we must learn to bve and work together," said Charles Wang, director of the Asian American Caucus. "This also shows people the wealth and richness of talent among Asian Americans."

Youngsters climbed into trees or stood on park benches to watch members of the Chinatown Youth Group snake through the ceremonial lion dance, waving banners and swords and toting the multicolor papler-mache lion around the atage.

Ronnie Alejandro of the Philippine Ronnie Alejandro of the Philippine Dance Company said he had choreo-graphed a special show for the fes-tival that he called "Sulyap." "That means glimpse," he explained. "Whet I'm trying to do is give the people a glimpse into Philippine culture." Vendors of ethnic foods and gifts

"There's a lot more spirit, definitely," said Laura Cahill, a senior and a co-captain of the cheerleaders. "Really, it's like a whole new school."

After the hig brawl of '75, the open animosity settled back into a kind of surliness, as it had in years past. But this time it was not so widely essumed in town that because the fighting was over, the problem was over, t00

"It was too big for that," recalled Mayor Charles A. Ducibella, who dad stood between the warring factions,

"Like anything," he said, "it started small and just grew, and the whole community felt as if to ask, "Why are we having these constant things and why, are they concentrated in the schools?"

Black Member Heads Board

A month after the brawl the city's 12-man Board of Education elected its only hlack member, Robert T. Jones, as chairman, and began directing its energies toward changing the school system and attitudes in the town.

"That wasn't any fluke, that's what I'm saying," the principal explained. "We don't have a racist student body, but I think in any group of 2,200 people you are going to have a handful who have those tendencies, and this is what caused the problem bere."

The blacks and whites simply have nnt known each other, Mr. Ryan said. Mr. Jones, the school board chairman, agreed.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Sept. 26-A campaign poster for the entire Democratic ticket in Illinois, topped hy the name "Carter" in hig letters, appeared on Anthony Guz-zardo'a front Jawn last week, tacked to a stake.

When he described his disappointment with Jimmy Carter's performance in his television debate with President Ford, Mr. Guzzardo was standing within 10 feet of the poster, "He'a not fast," he said, making a fist of his left hand and jabbing at an imaginary opponent. "There'a no fight in him. Ha's timid."

Two weeks ago Mr. Guzzardo had described himself as leaning to the Demo-cratic Presidential candidate, but his lack of enthusiasm was already evident. Now, in the aftermath of the debate, he said he would leave the poster on his lawn because it had been put there hy his coosin, a Democratic campaign worker and "a good egg." But he now thought he would vote for the President.

In a sense, Mr. Guzzardo ie typical of the trend in his neighborhood, a nominally Democratic section on the northwest side of this iodustrial town that often goes Republican and almost invariably backs winners in state and local elections.

About New York

Dispensing Justice in Wholesale Lots

By FRANCIS X. CLINES

On a recent Mooday morning, as the city cleaned out its social catch basins after a routinely gamy weekeod, the Brooklyn police ran out of jail space.

There were so many defendaots waiting to be arraigned in the borough that the jailer at the Criminal Court on Schermerhorn Street bad to keep the overflow from his pens in outiving precinct lockups in oeighborhoods all through the borough. Then he resorted to sending some to Queens precincts for safekeeping until the process of testing their presumption of innocence was ready in all its majesty.

At noon, the total was 197 defendants and counting, and the jailer-one of those alternately harassed and capable individuals that all businesses need and shape like indispensible mutants-engaged in cutting corners.

Above the basement lockup, a thin woman obviously concerned shout someone somewhere io the building or out io the lockups dropped all pretense about judicial respect and simply sat down on the dirty floor of the main lobby to lunch on a hero sandwich.

Just opposite, the main arraignment court was in operation with Judge Richard A. Brown presiding at or near his customary pace of 2.5 mioutes a case—a production rate that leaves him respected in the eyes of court per-sonnel in much the same way as a dropbsck quarterback earns respect in footbalt by getting a pass off in 3.5 seconds.

Arrayed across the desk blotter be fore him as he looked down oo the defeodants brought forth one after another were no grest legal tomes, but 31 different rubber stamps-a judicial tool collectioo the judge carefully picked over in choosing the correct ootations to start the thick paperwork accompanying each defendant. "Jury Trial Waived" and "Warrant Yacated" read two of the hand stamps the judge wielded even as he asked quick questions of the lawyers who stood before him, often striking bar-gains as the defendants stood nearby mutely. Options-the acceptance of a plea oo a reduced charge-would frequently be explained to an accused, with harely time for a frown. A choice was made. The judge would often explicitly remiod ao accused that he was choosing to surrender certaio rights. Agreement, numerous signatures from the judge, "Go, Mike," the judge says to his attendant. Next case. .

The basic purpose of arraignment court is the first step, the formal charg-ing, before the bearings and eventual trial that theoretically lie ahead in the court system. But the way the harried system works, more than balf of all criminal cases are disposed of directly at ar-raignment—Judge Brown's clearance rate is higher near 60 percent—with emerge like pale ghosts in his courtroom. And as he talks, the Legislature, for all its Faustian deals and flea market integrity, seems like an ivory tower as he contrasts the criminal justice he heard debated as a legislative worker with the criminal justice he experiences as a judge.

"No ooe can say io advance of sitting on the bench what their view of justice is going to be," he said, still impressed by the experience of it. "You have to sit there, spend time there."

What he sees from that vantage point is that, politically stated, "the courts have no constituency." As he summarizes the problem, the police, who have a powerful constituency by way of the public's fear of street crime, use it to garner 80 cents of every criminal justice dollar, 'The other 20 cents goes to all the rest of the process—the courts, lawyers for the indigeot, and jail time at a cost of $46 a day per defendant."

He smiles. "So when we in the 20cent part of the system finds ways to move 100 cases along faster, the 80cent part of the system has 200 more cases ready to put ioto the funnel." He would like to see the pending chaoges io the City Charter for the role of criminal justice coordinator be used to reallocate the parts of that dol-lar, but be agrees that politically this would risk great coorroversy.

In the meantime, some of the compromises resulting io Brooklyn from the case volume and budget pressures are interesting. There is a "40-stitch misdemeaoor rule," an unofficial guide that says two combatants hauled before the beoch need oot face felooy charges unless the combined damage to one another exceeds 40 stitches. And most car thefts are treated now as-misdemeanors, out felonies, so whatever the public's impression of the gravity of this crime, the car thieves' view may be far less grave, .

By such compromises, the District Attorney's office says it is eble to focus more clearly oo the more serious felony cases, with fewer than 5,000 indictments this year compared with the 12,000 of past years. Compromise, as much as justice, is the rule at arraign-ment court these days.

'Cannot Be Neutral.' On Abortion Issue, Cardinal Proclaims

By GEORGE DUGAN

Terence Cardinal Cooke told worshipers at St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday that the Roman Catholic Church neither endorsed political candidates nor favored one political party over another but that it "cannot be neutral" on the abortion

"We hope that the elected representatives of both parties will face up to this situation in the next Congress," he said.

The Cardinal made his statement in a rare, formal appearance in the cathedral pulpit following the church's annual Red Mass for lawyers and judges. The service derives its name from the red robes worn by judges and doctors of law during the Middle Ages. Cardinal Cooke is chairman of the American Bishops' Committee for Pro-Life Affairs, which favors enactment of, a constitutional amendment restricting abortions.

Buckley Presses for Amendment

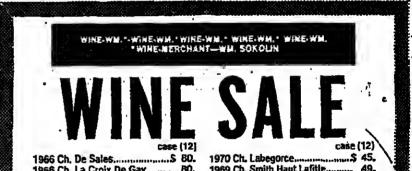

The Cardinal's statement provided an; opening for Senator James L. Buckley, the Conservative-Republicao candidate for re-election in New York State, where the Catholic vote is thought to be crucial and abortion has arisen as a campaign ssue of sorts.

"The process of constitutional amendment is the only fair way to settle the abortion issue," Mr. Buckley said in a statement issued by his campaign headquarters.

"But so should unhorn babies. It is inhuman to kill them, and that is whet abortion is: the killing of a child." According to the Cardinal, a constitu-tional amendment is needed "to give meximum protection to the unborn child." He added: "Such legal protection of human life at every stage of its exist." ence is imperative to guarantee that this oation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that everyone, including unborn children, will enjoy full protection unborn children, will enjoy full protection of their unaligneble rights."

By NADINE BROZAN :-- Last November, Laurie Adams found herself at loggerbeads with the pediauns department of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center when her then 3-year-old daughter, Alexa, was taken there with pneumonia. Mrs. Adams, who has a master's degree in developmental psychology, in-sisted on accompanying her daughter to the treatment room, where all examinations and procedures are conducted, to allay the child's anxieties. She also asked that her father, a psychiatrist and neurologist, or her mother, a registered nurse be permitted-to go into the X-ray room because she was then four months' pregnant. "No matter what, the residents or interns kept saying, 'It's against hos-pital policy. Mothers faint,'" Mrs. Adams recalled the other day. "When I suggested that my father go, they still refused. I said, 'You cao't possibly believe that a psychiatrist-neurologist will faint at the sight of a needle.' They said, 'Sorry, hospital policy.""

Policy Approval Is Expected

The potential for 'such bitter confrootations at the hospital was sharply reduced with the formulation last week of a pediatric department policy that reads in part:

"If they wish, parents may be pres-ent wheo tests, examinations and procedures ore performed, except when there are medical or psychological con-traindications, which will be fully explained to them at the time. For example, a parent may be present for blood drawing or the placemeot of intravenous lines, but not for medical emergencies or sterile procedures. A parent may accompany a child to X-ray, but oot remain in the room."

As soon as it is approved by the department and its patient care com-mittee, which is expected, the policy, which was drawn up by the three-month old parents' participation com-mittee, will be distributed at all pediatric department admissions. The hospital's new policy will not be unique, since other hospitals in themetropolitan area have had similar programs for some time.

But the chain of events, which began with the discontent expressed by Mrs. Adams, who switched to a pediatrician associated with another hospi-tal, and several other pareots, and which culminated in a new right for parents, does demonstrate how a hand-ful of consumers can influence a gigantic medical establishment. Their success also coincided with the growing sensitization of medical professionals to the needs of yoong children for their parents during hospitalization As Dr. Hans F. Huebner, director of

of the urinary tract, prevailed with quiet resistance, but became an agitator for reform.

They would grab Jessica to go to the treatment room for blood tests and I would just follow," Mrs. Chester recalled. "I never fought, I just stood there—and it worked. They never, gave me a rational reason for my not stay-ing; they would just say, We don't thick your child should associate you with pain.' I would say that I felt she would rather know I was there and not leaving ber to pain."

Dr. Wallace W. McCrory, pediatrician in chief at the hospital, acknowledged that "some irate individuals made it known that they wanted the policy changed or they wouldn't contribute funds

Mrs. Mazzola, when asked if some of her success could not be attributed to the fact that she has unusual clout she bas known Dr. Platt for years and she is a contributing editor at Harper's Bazaar, where her husband is editor in chief-replied, "No. definitely not. Following an article with details for fudge-making, we received a generous letter from Barbara Welch of Newport, R.L. offering us two caody recipes. Ooe was for divinity, which, during our childhood, we thought was quite possibly conceived in heaven.

"Your recipe for fudge is about the same as mine," Mrs. Welch wrote. "Sixty years ago, wheo I first learned to make candy, we never had thermo-meters, however, so I always under-cooked it a bit below the soft ball stage (112 to 115 degrees centigrade). Then, with two teaspoons, I was able to make it into individual bonbons.

By a happy coincidence, at about the same time we received that request, we received a note from a neighbor in East Hampton, LJ. She offers us a formula for clotted cream. which she suggests, is best made with raw unpasteurized milk that can be purchased on rare occasions from small, local dairy farms in her area. Such milk can also be purchased from some health food stores in Man-hattan. Failing that, she offers an alternative combination of pasteurized milk and cream. Her formula follows:

possible use fresh whole milk. Or use fresh heavy cream poured into an equal amount of milk. Use a good grade of heavy cream.

Pour the whole milk or milk-cream mixture into a shallow pan that can be placed over that but not boiling water. Keep the water hot but not boiling, and as the cream clots on the surface, skim it off and place in a bowl, preferably with the bowl imbedded in ice.

Continue until all the cream has clotted and has been placed in the bowl. When floished, stir cream lightly to blend and refrigerate. Use as sooo as possible. It will keep well for two or three days.

whether pronouncing "Boston" with a Bostonian rather than an Italian intona-tion is the intelligent or the pretentious thing to do.

Into this cobweb life two things erupt. Somebody smashes the head of Garrone, an unlikable crumb attached to Turin's upper-crust. The weapon is one of the counterfeit ancient stone phalluses that he sells to foreigners. Quite a few members of Turinese high society, including Ana Maria and Mas-singo, had reason to dislike Garrone. So, with the greatest reluctance, the authorities put Inspector Santamaria on the case. Hiss assignment, in effect, is to solve the crime without catching anybody.

sues it with tenacity. The encounters of this naïve, sensi-tive but purposeful man with the sophisticated and purposeless Beautiful People of Turin are the film's heart. There is a marvelous first encounter with Massimo, played by Trintignant. Santamaria offers American cigarettes; Massimd insists on cheap local ones. Santamaria quotes an appropriate Latin tag; Massimo says he doesn't know Latin. Santamaria is after the good things; Massimo, who has them all, rejects them as vulgar.

The comedy turns serious when San-tamaria discovers Massing's young lover. The two poses crack — Santamaria is deadly serious about the crime; Massimo is deadly serious about his lover — and the two are suddenly shouting at each other. Trintignant makes his jaded sophisticate both funny and affecting, a man testering on the edge of a crackup.

Santamaria's encounters, with Ana Maria are even better. Again, serious-ness — this time in the form of mutual attraction-breaks through the comical and mannered fencing. Jacqueline Bis-set, a heautiful and most skilled actress who is usually starved on silly parts, is a battleground of real feeling and decadent detachment, a tempest in a crystal wine glass. There is a whole gallery of minor characters, some of them trite but most with at least a few moments of comic inspiration. Aldo Reggiani is particu-larly good as Massimo's young lover, a mixture of dopiness and moonstruck passioo. The ending of 'The Sunday Woman," which opened yesterday at the Fine Arts Theater, is a surprise, but it is a distant surprise and irrelevant. A mystery villain should be under our noses all the time. It is the final creak in the plot, but I was too pleased by the scenery to mind the desunation.

plified rock show. The Isleys were somewhat out of balance at their Saturday evening concert in Madison Square Gardeo, with Eroie Isley dominating the music on guitar and Ronald Isley dominating the group's singing as lead vocalist. Fortunately, both are absorbing performers.

The former is one of the most exciting guitarists working in rock; his melodic imaginatioo is metched by a dramatic epproach to solo building, a seariog, dis-tinctive sound and ample techoique. The latter ranges from a growling lower register to a plaintive falsetto and some-times blends with the iostruments, especially with Mr. Jasper's synthesizer. As a group, the Isleys have lost none of their power and momentum. At this point, they are perhaps the rawest, most.

spontaneous group capable of pulling off a show in an arena as large as the Garden-no choreography, pat conversational gambits, or cute arrangements— and it was a joy to see them work there. The rest of the eveniog was oot as inviting. Wild Cherry, currently enjoying a top 10 single and million-selling album, sounded like a better-than-average white disco baod, capable musically but short on persocality. Black Smoke, which opened the show, was better but, again, no match for the distinctive style and energy of the Isleys. ROBERT PALMER

Music: A Fascination for Mahler

5th Symphony Makes Splash; Is a Standard-Setting Event

HEW YORK PHILHARMONIC, Erich Lainsdorf, con-ductor; Fraderica Von Stade, mezza-soprano. Al

By HAROLD C. SCHONBERG The New York Philharmonic started its Mahler month last night in Carnegie Hall, and the audience filled every nook and cranny of the venerable auditori-um. Mahler continues to exert his fascination as a contemporary culture hero and hymbol.

New York audiences will be getting New York audiences will be getting an unparalleled dose of Mahler in the nine concerts ending Oct. 25. Ali of the symphonies, including the unfim-ished Tenth, will be heard, and some of the songs with orchestra. Missing will be "Das Lied von der Erde" and the "Kindertotewlieder," The feat, even with the omission of those two works, is unique in American orchestral his-tory tory.

The biggest splash last night was the Fifth Symphony. But the most beanti-ful music came with the "Lieder eines Fahrenden Gesellen." With Frederica von Stade sloging, and with Erich Leinsdorf accompanying her with un-derstanding and finesse, this was a performance of a kind that sets standards. Miss von Stade is no stranger to Mahler. Only a few years ago she sang the last movement of the Mahler's Fourth Symphony in as hauntiogly beantiful a way as anyhody could re-member. Last night, in the "Lieder eines Fahrenden Gesellen," she was equally impressive. The big, warm mezzo-soprano sound was only part of it. Miss von Stade oot only has a beautiful voice; in addition she uses it with style and sensitivity. This was effortless singing, with lines drawn in instrumental-like security. Behind it was a musical intelligence Behind it was a musical intelligence responsive to the shades of meanings in the texts. It is true that singers who engage the Mahler songs generally are in the upper artistic echelon, hringing to bear oo the music a special set of attributes. But even anong these Miss voo State is rare for the combination of ravishing turicism with the kind of of ravishing lyricism with the kind of simplicity that cooceals high art.

Mr. Leinsdorf was an equally sensi-tive accompanist, working with a con-trolled freedom that brought out the rhapsodic. elements of these lovely songs. And in the Fifth Symphony he had a different kind of message to con-

This Fifth, over an hour long, is a difficult handful for any orchestra and conductor. The constant fortissimo playing can so easily degenerate into hombast and self-pity. Mr. Leinsdorf was completely suc-cessful in these shifts. He was never afraid of the long ritard, and he also managed to get a feeliog of rubato into the music. He was particularly responsive to the long, long melodies. Ooe curious result was that sections of the symphony, the first movemeot in particular, suddenly sounded like the Richard Strauss of "Heldenleben" and "Zarathustra." By MEL GUSSOW "Home Boy," which opened last night at the comfortable new Perry Street Theater, is the fifth play in Ed

Bullins's projected 20-play cycle about blacks in contemporary America. Later this season Mr. Bullins has promised to deliver "Daddy," the sixth play in the series. Next week, a noncycle, independent work by the author, "Joanne," is scheduled to open at the Theater of the Riverside Church. One of the inevitable results of beiog so prolific and talented , is that Mr. Bullins has to be compared with himself.

Up to now, his cycle plays, even the one entitied "In New England Winter," have dealt with the urban environmeot. In contrast, the roots of "Home Boy" are pastoral. It is the story of two young southern hlack men who plan to young southern hlack men who plan to emigrate to the North. One, Dude, does go north. The other, Jody, waits, delays and "idealizes" the adventure: "I want to see how it is to sit on a corner and drink wine." One might say that Jody's dream is to be a character in one of his author's urban plays.

Like a clock with a snapped spring, the play swings hack and forth—from South to North, from the 50's to the 60's to the 50's. We see the two youths with the women they ahandon and we hear something about their defeats and compromises,

Despite outward differences-Dude wears sunshades and is street-smart; Jody retains his down-home innocence Jody retains his down-home innocence —they are country "cousins" under the skin, bound to each other and to the land where they were born. Leaving the land robs them of their roots and their sense of community (although the play-wright spends too little time investigat-ing the strengths of the country). Finally, Jody, contemplating the cir-cumstantial evidence of their lost lives, asks, "Are we the victims, the aur-vivors or the casualties?" It is a provocative question, one that echoes through most of Mr. Bullins's echoes through most of Mr. Bullins's work. Clearly, so many of his charac-ters are victims, survivors and casualties. But this time the author has sketched his people only in outline. We want to know so much more about Dude and Jody. We also want to know about the people who touch their lives, such as Uncle Clyde, who Mr. Bullins seems to relate to Cliff Dawson, the self-defeating hero of other cycle plays. "Home Boy" is an episodic series of encounters and conversations, interrupted by music and by carratioo (including intrusive mentioo of famous blacks of the era, presumably to set the play in a context). There are 11 songs, with music by Aaron Bell and lyrics by the author. The music, played by a small combo that includes the composer on the piano, is pleasant, but nonessential, and Mr. Bullins's lyrics are not on a level with his dialogue.

The acting by Rodney Hudson as the soft-spoken Jody and Thommie Black-well as the sardonic Dude is convincing (and Pamela Poitier and Dana Manno are effective as the contrast-ing women in their lives) but the staging by Patricia Golden tends to point up rather than to elide the gaps m the play.

Watching "Home Boy," we are re-mio:ed of other, more potent, plays by Mr. Bullins, particularly the stylis-tically related "The Fabulous Miss Marie," the fourth in the cycle. Both plays use music and wear from the b plays use music and veer from the author's usual naturalism, but "Miss Marie", a jazz symphony, simmers with life. "Home Boy" is a fragmented play with music.

Ethiopia Transfers the Control

Of Its Schools to Local Bodies

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Sept. 26 (Agence France-Presse)-Ethiopia's military government issued a proclamation today giving responsibility and control of the lower levels of public education to the Ethiopan people. The proclamation, broadcast over the Ethiopian radio today and going into effect immediately, relegates the Ministry of Education to the status of coordinator.

The new decree - empowers farmers ssociations in the rural areas and urban dwellers associations in the cities to supervise, control and help reorient and develop the elementary and high school system in the country.

days when pennants have returned to postseason play sooner, but it is an Interesting departune from the past. Billy Martin is not a departure from the Yankee past. The scrappy second basement on five World Series teams in the 50's, Martin has molded the 1976 club in his image an aggressive, running, hard-playing hand that re-sponds to his bold maneuvers with calculated abandon.

Martin has had differences with' some of his players, but that's Martin. He never has won and never will win a popularity contest. But he is cer-tainly among the leading contenders in a contest for best manager on the field.

This division title is the third Martin has won in his seven years of manag-ing, and while other managers have won more often since division play was instituted in 1969, no one has won so often with so many different teams. In winning the division title, the Yankees have had three players who have served as the focal point of their attack, but the ingredients of this win-ner total many more than three.

They Make Team Go

Thurman Munson, Mickey Rivers and Chris Chambliss are the trio who have led the Yankees more successfully than the triumvirate of Julius Caesar, Pompey the Great and Marcus Crassus ever led Rome.

All three have been hotly discussed among Yankee followers and others regarding their merits as the league's most valuable player. However, Mun-son and Rivers have an edge on Chambliss in the consideration because they have contributed more defensively and on the bases than Chambliss. Munson is the team leader in runs hatted in, second to Rivers in batting scored a touchdown with little char following an interceptioo of a pass by Joe Namath that placed the ball on the New York 29-yard line. "For the second week in a row we didn't score a touchdown,' said Lou Holtz, the Jets' coach as he pondered his team's third straight defeat. "We had five turnovers [four lost fumbles plus the interceptioo] and three 15-penalties. There's no way in the world you can win that way. It wis difficult enough to play Miami without turn-second Sunday in a row, the Dophins were less that devastating and that trademark of Coach Don Shula's of-feoses, the relentless squeezing of the opponent's jugular, was missing. "We doo't know what's wrong," said Earl Morrall, the 42-year-old spare quarterback and student of the game. "Maybe it's those three-man defensive lines we're seeing. It's hard to get solid lines we're seeing. It's hard to get solid blocks against three-man fronts."

The Jets shuffled their defense around after giving up 84 points and 933 yards to Cleveland and Denver in the first two games. They cut their averages down, holding the Dolphins third straight defeat of the young foot-hall season, 24-10. James Harris, the Ram quarterback returning to action with a gecently healed thumb that had been broken, apparently needed the first period to get the feeling of things. His first pass was incomplete, and his second was intercepted, giving the Giants the ball on the Ram 32 and setting up the only New York touchdown. After that, however, Harris did just fine. Two Rams Injured

As the game wore on, the Rams' de-fense and their running attack both gained strength, as they were expected to do. Los Angeles, making its home debut before 60,698 fans now has two victories and a tie and remains an overwhelming favorite to finish first in its division.

But the Rams suffered a couple of injuries that may make problems later. Merlin Olsen, their 36-year-old defensive tackle, tore a hamstring muscle and will be out indefinitely after bav-

Mystique of Event Considered

But Burke was thinking about the cheaper seats—at $150, $100, $75, $50 and $25, perhaps "less expensive" is the proper term—the ones he had at Yankee Stadium. He wanted to sell those, and he wanted to sell them to ... as many out of area buyers as possible, people who'd fly in for the Muhammad Ali-Ken Norton fight tomorrow night. He knew that Ali had fans all over the world, and he figured they'd come if he could guarantee them a ticket. A Little Ink for Roberto and Flame While they waited for Muhammad Ali, some of the meo at the gym watched a dark-haired fighter stalk an imaginary opponent. The shadow-hoxer in the front ring moved intently, circling and feinting and grunting as he threw 'hare-fisted phantom hooks and uppercuts. On the sides of his white sneakers, inscribed in red, the Spanish words "Manos de Piedra" proclaimed his trademark: Hands of Stone. "Roberto Duran,' one of the men said. "Pound for pound, probably the greatest fighter in the world." Another ringsider nodded. "Enormously

Sports deadly," he said. "A fearsome puncher." In a few minutes, Ali would come out of of The Times

The Lunes the dressing room at Gleason's Gym, where be finished training over the weekend for his heavyweight title defense against Ken Nortoo tomorrow night at Yankee Stadium, And when Ali appeared. Duran would be forgotten.

Now, though, under a ceiling pocked by flaking paint, the 25-year-old world lightweight champion from Panama at least was being taked about. How he had won 59 of his 60 fights, 48 of them with knockouts; how he figured to demolish Alvaro Rojas of Costa Rica in his next title defense on Oct. 15 in Florida, and how he winds up with so few headlines compared to the publicity Ali gets.

"It's too bad," said Angelo Dundee, the man who trains Ali, "If he survives until Ali leaves, maybe somebody"!! write about Duran. The guy gets no ink. Ali soaks it all up."

This Flame Causes Shivers

But at least a few people knew Duran was in the gym which was more than could be said for Eddie (Flame) Gregory. Nobody except his trainer was talking about Gregory, a middleweight whose main bout next Friday at Sunnyside Gardens in Queens was advertised outside right next to the Ali-Norton posters.

"Every time you mention Eddie Gregory," said Chickie Ferrara, his white haired trainer, "they shiver. Never mind getting fights for him, I can't get anybody to train with him. That's now hard he punches."

Ferrara looked around, trying to spot his tiger. He waved his arms. "Eddie? Over here, Eddie." A tall young man io blue-denim slacks, orange T-shirt and tweed golf cap pushed his way through the crowd. The golf cap was set at a rakish angle, and the message on the T-shirt read: "Definitely Bad." Eddie said he just wanted everybody to

"He'll be rated fourth or fifth in the next issue of Ring," said Ferrara. 'His last seven bouts were knockouts. Another year, he be ready for Monzon."

C.

Gregory, a 24-year-old graduate of Madison High School in Brooklyn, earns $176 a week as a buyer trainee for a department store. For Friday's bout at Sunnyside, with tickets scaled from $8 to $6, he expects to get a purse of $3,000 and keep two-thirds of it. Slightly less than the $6 million guarantee for Ali.

"Guys like Duran and me," he said, "we're not into politics and all that, like Ali, We just like to fight. I can hit you with either hand, and take you out."

Ali was on the scene now, dancing around in a white terrycloth robe. Somebody from management whispered something to Duran, and the lightweight champion, looking a little annoyed, climbed down out of the front ring.

While cameramen and photographers followed Ali, Duran skipped rope unnoticed at the rear of the gym. Asked what he thought of Ali, the little man with the hands of stone replied through an interpreter: "For his own weight, he has done something for boxing. But not for my weight division."

Listen to the Champ

Duran was on his way to a shower hy the time Ali moved out of the ring for a session on the heavy bag. Later in the day, during one of his weekend appearances with Norton on national television, the champion would bring a "Boy-ohboy" response from a surprised and laughing challenger by saying, "I'm scared. Norton's so good I'm goma dance and run. I take back everything I said about him, because I believe we may have a new champion, I'm io trouble."

But in the gym, by himself, the real strategy was obvious as Ali punctuated comments to Norton with vicious punches that made the heavy bag clank on its chains: "You been runnin' your mouth, Norton". . . (WHAMMO!) . . . "Talkin' all that jive". . . (BAM!) . . . "You let these white folks make a fool outta you"... (KER-POWI) ...,"Didn't I tell you about that?". . . (WHUNCK!).

At the front door, in street clothes, Roberto Duran paused to talk with Joe Louis, who stood quietly with a cowboy hat on his head and a cigar in his mouth. A friend's camera clicked, and Duran noticed his thanks to Louis. Then he turned, and left the gym. Hardly anyone saw him go.

The crowd was clustered around Ali, listening to him urge them not to miss the fight because he planned something "strange and unusual" that would aurprise them all. "I won't be good," he was saying, "and I won't be bad. I'm going to do something . . . t-e-r-r-i-b-l-e. So please get your tickets. Goodbye."

to "only 334 yards, which is 20 over the league median per game, and 16 points, which was three under the wagering margin set by the Nevada oddsmakers. So Jet bettors "won."

Half the time the Jets played a threeman defensive front using four line-backers, not because New England upset Miami last Sunday with such a defense, but because of the lack of bodies. With Billy Newsome and Carl Barzilauskas out with injuries, Walt Michaels, the defensive coach, had only four linemen available and they were warm bodies indeed with the temperature 93 degrees,

Those four and five linebackers were alternated and they did all right, espe-cially Greg Buttle, the rookie from Penn State who may be the only star in the team's highlight film at the end of this long season of this long season.

After giving Denver 292 yards by passing, the Jets changed the second-ary, too, with Ed Taylor and Shafer Suggs the new cornerbacks, Phil Wise and Burgess Owens the safeties, and Burgess Used Denved as minera, Bat Roscoe Word released on waivers. Bob Griese, the Dolphin quarterback, com-pleted half of 24 attempts for a modest 123 yards but Griese was not passing with his usual sharpness.

Also Howard Twilley and Nat Moore dropped difficult passes in the first half. "How often does that happen?" asked Shula. "Not often." The coach had driven his offense hard in practice and he will drive them hard again with the Los Angeles Rams due here next Sunday

Holtz doesn't have Miami's telent to push around but his coaching staff did call all the plays for Namath which was an innovation. The quarterback, whose performance rated a grade of B, was noncommital in his comments about that. "I do what the man says," Namath replied. The plays were brought into the huddle by either Don Buckey or David Knight, thhe alternat-ing wide receivers. Bob Gresham started at running back

Bob Gresham started at running back rather than Ed Marinaro although Marirainer than 20 Marinaro autoogn Mari-naro played the most. Steve Davis was the other starter and he fumbled three times, Lou Piccone losing the other one for four turnovers. Piccone's fumble came with 96 seconds left to play and the Jets at the Miami 47, which was close for them

The closest they got was the Dolphin ' 32 and the question remains, with the 49ers the next opponent in San Fran-cisco-do the Jets have an offense? Overall the game was "encouraging," said Holtz, "But we've got a long way to go." to go."

Upset of Buckeyes Tops a Long Missouri L

By GORDON S. WHITE JR.

Pete Woods, the second-string quatterback who engineered Missouri's latest and most impressive of many upsets in recent seasons, said yesher-day, "We're really an emotional team. Our talent is as good as anyone's but we're not as big as some. If we're not up to it emotionally, we're in trouble." Obviously, Woods and his mates were emotionally ready for Ohio State Saturday, as they beat the Buckeyes, 22-21. But Missouri is as unpredictable as any team in the nation and has only a 30-30 wonlost mark under him. . ;

The coach said, "I wish we knew the answer Beating Southern Califor-nia and then coming back so flat against filmois—I just don't know. But this one over Ohio State is the biggest." Missouri had another of its letdowns between the Southern Cal and Ohio State games, losing in an upset to Illi-nois, eight days ago. Following the tri-umph over Alabama, Missouri won five and lost five in 1975. It was this week-to-week change that prompted Woods to speak of his team as "emotional." Missouri came back from a 21-7 deficit at halftime against Ohio State and even appeared to have lost the game when its first attempt for a 2-point conversion failed after the last touchdown. Bit Ohio State was called for holding and Woods got his second chance. He took the ball in on a rightoption sprintout. "They were keying on Curtis, Brown (Missouri's tailback) and I found a little hole there and just went in."

Rivers came to the Yankees from California last winter in the controversial trade involving Bohhy Bonds and has been an even bigger asset than anyone could have imagined. Besides his speed, which has set the tone for the team's aggressive running game, Rivers has provided the team with its best average, a surprisingly high num-ber of runs batted in for a leadoff batter and a defense that has virtually eliminated the extra-base hit in the gaps in right-center and left-center field.

Speaks With His Bat

Chambliss, as quiet off the field as Rivers is rancous, has had his best sea-son in runs batted in and providing the big blows for the Yankees earlier in the season when they were building their championship lead.

Then there are the others: Graig Nettles, who had a horrible first two months, but who has been as important with the bat as the others since then and who has been the best defensive third baseman in the league all year.

Roy White, the team's underrated senior citizen who plays a steady left field and contributes steadily and significantly at the plate, albeit not so dramatically as some of the others.

Willie Randolph, the second baseman acquired from Pittsburgh who has made typically rookie mistakes but who has helped solidify the infield by giving the team its first legitimate second baseman since Bobby Richardson. Fred Stanley, a totally overlooked shortstop who also has helped make the infield sound while hitting better than anyone could have expected.

Oscar Gamble, a part-time right fielder who has been as productive proportionately as any, man on the body could pitch and win for these Yankees, but some have pitched and won better than others.

won better than others." While Catfish Hunter has struggled through his worst season in six years, Ed Figueroa and Dock Ellis became the most consistently effective starters on the team with Doyle Alexander providing a generally steady effective-ness that he had never shown in his new Yeahene durg pre-Yankee days.

Sparky Lyle was a sensational relief pitcher until mid-August and Dick Tidrow and Grant Jackson have as-sumed the bulk of the relief responsi-bility with success since then. In perusing the Yankee roster, another difference between this team and its championship precedessors becomes apparent. The people who used to win permants for the Yankees played to-gether and stayed together for more than a month or two. These Yankees are tha new Yankees in more ways than one because 12 of the 25 did not play for the team last season, Further-more, two others played for the first time in 1975 and another five played for the Yankees for the first time in 1974. White and Munson are the only ones who were Yankees at the begin-ning of this decade.

It's as if George Steinbrenner and Gabe Paul and Billy Martin wanted to the Yankees of their recent past before they returned to Yankee Sta-dium where they could hoist a new pennant on a new flag pole.

1,000 Fans at Airport

About 1,000 fans cheered the Yankees at La Guardia Airport yesterday as they arrived from Detroit. Displaying signs that read, "Today Is The First Day of the Second Dynasty" and "The Yank In '76—Yes, We Will," they patted the players on the back and chanted, "We are No. I!"

Manager Billy Martin, the first one through the gantlet, was asked if he thought the team had backed in. He answered, "Yeu don't back in whenyor were 18 games ahead."

Roy White said, "Don't worry, we'll take Kansas City."

Mrs. Young Wins Carlton Golf by 5 Shots at 282

By FRED TUPPER Special to The New York Times

CALABASES, Calif., Sept. 26-Donna Caponi Young has run away with the richest bonanza in womens' golf. The 30-year-old blonde, twice United States Open champion, had a closing 72 for a total of 282 today and smoth-ered the field in the $205,000 Carlton. She won by five strokes as Judy Rankin, the leading money-winner this year, and Jane Blalock finished at 287 to the for second.

The Cariton, a oew tournament, had a first prize of $35,000, plus a per-centage of the gate. The issue was hardly in doubt after the second round.

Buoyed by 'positive thinking." Mrs. Young led by four shots at the halfway mark, by five after the third round and at one stage today was seven under par while none of the 61 other golfers were below par.

For a long time Sandra Palmer was one under, but she lagged down the stratch. Miss Blalock, who had seemed hopelessly out of it with a first-day 77, had a final 69. Yesterday she had ea-gled the long 18th hole, today she birdied it.

If Mrs. Rankin, the first woman golfer to earn over $100,000 in a year, had any regrets, it was a nine-foot putt that lipped out before a crowd of more than 15,000 massed around the home hole Kathy Martin, who lives up the road at Thousand Oaks, had two hrave 69's at the end and tied with Pat Bradley at 288. Karolyn Kertzman and Jan

Stephenson, an Australian, had 289. Debbie Austio, the opening-day leader with 68, was tied at 290 with Gloria Ehret and Miss Palmer.

It was tough going early on, Mrs. Young admitted. On the first hole, her second shot found the rough in heavy grass. She pitched again into deep tangle, then chipped to six feet and got the putt in.

A pitch to six feet meant another par on the second hole, and a 5-iron gave her a putt of 15 feet that lipped out on the fourth.

"I was still nervous," Mrs. Young said. "I thought or 'golf power' and positive thinking. I squeezed my fin-gers together-and nothing worked." Then, however, a 10-foot putt rolled in for a birdle on the fifth hole and a away. As she made the turn in 35 and was As she made the tirm in 55 and was still seven ueder, there was hardly a challenge in sight. After seeing Mrs. Rankin get a birdle ahead of her on the 10th, Mrs. Young momentarily mis-judged the hole. She used an 8-iron, was short by 50 feet and three-putted. She played the treacherous 14th perfectly. She hit a 3-iron to six feet from the flag, where there was no way to stop a downhill putt except sink it, It dropped in.

17-footer on the seventh, and she was

Mrs. Young had one more problem. A drive off the 15th went into a stream, and she had to take a stroke penalty. Then she hit to the middle and pitched to five feet. The putt missed for a bogey 6. Easy sailing, then. A lovely pitch to five feet on the 18th should have gone down, hut rolled wide. It didn't matter. The applause roared down, And Donna had taken the higgest one ever, on her own course.

"It compared with coming from five strokes back to win the 1969 Open," she said. "But this is unbelievable. I was trying to keep money out of it. For Mrs. Rankin, it was a "personal, private victory." She was trying hard to be second, so as to be assured the top place on the year's money list with $138,600, unheard of until now.

"I knew unless I got on a streak, I couldn't catch her the way she was going, but it hurt to three-putt from 60 feet on the 18th," she said. "I hit that last one on the high side."

J. C. Snead Shoots a 68 for 274 And Captures Kaiser Golf by 2

NAPA, Calif., Sept. 26 (AP)-J.C. Snead shot a final round of four-underpar 68 today and denied Johnny Miller a third coosecutive victory in the Kaiser International open golf tournament. Soead, the 34-year-old nophew of Sam Snead, scored his second victory of the season and sixth of his career with a 274 total, 14 under par, on the 6,849-yard north course at the Silverado Country Club.

It is on that course, between the 10th and 11th holes, that Miller has built a home. He had won this event with relative ease the last two years.

He appeared about to do it again with a course-record 63 in the first round. But he could do no better than par 72 in the next two rounds and then flashed into the lead early in the final round with a string of three consecutive birdies beginning on the third bole. But on the sixth, a relatively easy par four, he bunkered his approach, blew it out to about 8-10 feet and then three-putted. It was a double hogey 6. He never really recovered, but did manage to salvage a share of second with a 69 and a 276, two shots back.

Gilbert Ties Miller

Gibby Gilbert, who had led going into the final round, hirdied his final hole for a 71 and a tie with Miller for sec-ond. Miller Barber was oext at 277 after a closing 71 in the cloudy autumn weather

The victory was worth $35,000 from the total purse of $175,000 and placed Snead's earnings for the year at $191,807, the best of bis nine-year career. He moved into fifth place on the scason's money-winning list.

Snead started the day one shot back of Gilbert with Miller another stroke behind. Miller's fast move beginning on the third sent him to the lead and his big gallery of friends and neighbora believed-he was about to win again. He held a one-stroke lead going to the sixth tee, had his game in gear and was playing his home course. But he hit that bunker from the middle of the fairway, then three-putted. Snezd, playing behind him, hirdied the fifth almost simultaneously with Miller's double bogey. It was a three-stroke swing, Snead had the lead and never let go.

The Labor Scene

Changing Industrial Relations Pattern

By A. H. RASKIN

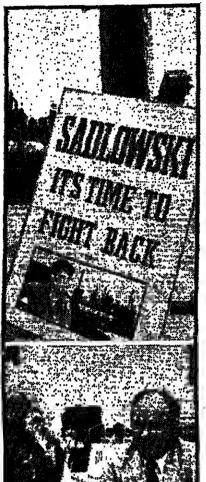

The administratioo slate in the hitter contest for control of the huge United Steelworkers of America does not intend to let its militant challenger, Ed Sadlowski, mocopolize the progressive side of the battlefield.

One result of this determination is a virtual certainty that the union will go to the bargaining table in basic steel next year with a program calling for innovations that could reshape the entire pattern of industrial relations in the Uoited States.

L W. Ahel, the union's retiring presi-dent, has already proclaimed its intention of pressing for lifetime job guarao-tees in the 1977 contract talks. Now Lloyd McBride, the St. Louis district director, who beads the five-man "unity ticket" carrying the establishment flag in next February's referendum, is spon-soring another substantial departure from the traditiooal balance on the labor-management front.

He wants to transform the grievance process, bedrock of in-plant relations, by extending into the steel mills tha concept that "a person is innocent till proved guilty."

"That concept applies everywhere in our system of justice except the work-place," said Mr. McBride. "The way it is now the company can fire or punish a worker, then we have to wait for redress till we've gone through the whole grievance machinery, right up to arbitration if necessary. We are determined to reverse that so that the worker stays on the job till the employer has proved his case. It makes sense to do it that way except perhaps where violence or some other special circumstance is involved."

The proposal to turn the grievance procedure upside down and other reforms to be put forward by the McBride slate reflect the seriousness with which the union hierarchy views the Sadlowski presidential bid, even though Mr. McBride insisted that the feedback Mr. MCBride insisted that the recoack he got from the field indicated that the rank and file was not "buying" the 38-year-old insurgent's attacks on the

Abel record. Mr. Sadlowski, who upset the administration two years ago by his resounding election victory for director of the hig Chicago-Gary district, has huilt his campaign on charges that the leadership has developed too cozy a partnership with the steel industry. He contends that the interests of the members are being sacrificed, specifically through the union's surrender of the right to strike next year as part of an experimental negotiating agreement aimed at insuring long-term labor peace. Under the pact any disputes over new contract terms are to be resolved through binding arbitration. Mr. McBride rejects his rival's assertion that the accord, under which steel wages have gone up twice as fast as the cost of living, proves that the union leaders "are in bed with the bosses."

"Every steel company that starts up an operation in the South resists us to the very end," the administration candidate said. "They fight us every way they know how. We know who the bastards are; it's the employers. But that doesn't mean we don't sit down with the devil at bargaining time and get the hest deal we can. There is only one way you can have collective bargaining and that is with the employers."

Mr. Sadlowski, for his part, is just as vehement in rejecting administra-tion charges that his "hit-the-bricks" philosophy is a prescription for per-petual strikes.

"That is the furthest thing from the truth," he declared. "My argument the truth, ne deciated. My argument is that you should not strip the muscle out of a man's arm. If the boss knows you woo't strike, you have no leverage. The threat of a strike is what makes the boss move. The test of leadership is to know how to use that threat effectively." effectively.

Thus far the young rehel from South Chicago is ranning a one-man camchicago is ranning a out-man cam-paign but he expects to announce within a week or two a full five-mem-ber slate. He says it will cover the spectrum of the 1.4 million-member union, with representation from the unioo's staff as well as the rank and file. Asked whether any other district director will move away from what Mr. Abel often calls "the official family" to join his ticket, the maverick Mr. Sadlowski responded, "Til hang loose oo that ooe,"

The contest would merit nationwide attention solely on the basis of the importance of the union, with 1.4 milcated to continuation of the same fundamental policies as their predecessors Mr. Sadlowski is one of the few committed to sweeping change. He de-clares himself "sick and tired" of the direction laid down by Mr. Abel, whom he accuses of forgetting that he worked for the workers, not they for him.

The pro-McBride elements see that issue in quite opposite terms. "What Sadlowski and the outside unionwreckers who support him are trying to do is go from the constructive poli-cies of I. W. Abel hack to those of the I. W. W., the old Wohhlies, who want-ed to blow up everything," is the way one administration stalwart sums it up.

What concerns many industrialists is that, no matter who wins the February election, the no-strike provisioo of the experimental negotiating agreement may become a casualty of the next contract round. While Mr. McBride in no way shares his foe's low regard for the peace pact, he stresses that it re-mains an experiment, with final judg-ment dependent on whether it proves as beneficial in 1977 as he feels it did in 1974.

"If it meets the test in 1977, it is quite likely that it will be renewed," Mr. McBride said. "If it does not, it is positive that it will not be renewed."

The yardstick will be whether the union and industry bargainers in steel can once again agree on all issues without having to invoke arbitration. "If we wind up having to go to arbi-tration on basic issues, it would blow the idea all to hell," he declared.

That could prove an epitaph in a ear when the union is taiking of raising such prickly issues as lifetime employment security, an upheaval in the grievance machinery and an exten-sion of whatever breakthrough the Ford strikers make in their current battle to shorten work time.

Market Place Last of the Exchange Funds

By ROBERT METZ

Exchange funds are like weeds. Congress chops them down, turns its back, and they come again.

Taxpayers who are aware of these investment vehicles — they permit a tax-free exchange of one or two holdings for sbares in a balanced portfolio of stocks—are either mildly provoked as concerned citizens or overloyed as investors.

mvestors. The prospect for an exchange typi-cally owns say, 1,000 shares of Exxon Corporation stock purchased many, years ago at a fraction of today's price. Were he to sell his shares, the investor would be subject to a capital gains tax of 25 percent or more of the gain. Such gains frequently represent 90 percent or more of the proceeds.

The exclange funds are back again -but the latest green shoots may be the last of the species. In 1966, Con-gress ruled out such funds organized as corporations. But earlier this year the Vance Sanders Exchange Fund came to market as a California Limited Partnership and succeeded in hypassing Congress with a $140-million exchange. The omnibus tax bill, which President

Ford is expected to sign within days, rules out the limited partnership form of exchange fund, but allows six such funds already in registration to proceed. Those six funds can be expected to leave brokers' shelves quickly. One of them, the Fidelity Exchange Fund of Boston, reportedly has received indi-cations of interest amounting to more than $400 million. However, that fund like the other five, is limited to a $100 million exchange.

The State Street Exchange Fund of Boston is also oversubscribed in antic-ipation of President Ford's signature, as is the American General Exchange Fund of Houston.

The magnificent Mercedes-Benz 450SEL: It's a world unto itself.

With its price of more than $22,000, it's reasonable to expect that everyone -driver and each and every passenger-should enjoy every moment spent in the Mercedes-Benz 450SEL. Everyone does.

Because within its artfully sculpted contours, the 450SEL conceals an extraordinary array of creature comforts. Yet here is one car that appeals as strongly to the intellect as it does to the senses. Read on. Some surprises may be in order.

The Mercedes-Benz 450SEL is the contemporary version of the classic touring car. The automotive embodiment of elegance.

. To be sure, it is a driver's automobile, replete with dozens of stunning engineering developments. Most of them are unique to the 450SEL.

But the 450SEL is also a passenger's automobile, in which a host of biotechnological ideas have been beautifully ated into numan terms. The result is pleasure ... pure pleasure, whether you take the wheel or simply enjoy the ride.

65° to 85°. The system also defogs, defrosts, and dehumidifies. Eleven strategically placed and adjustable vents-and front doors that actually "breathe"-assure proper ventilation in every area of the car.

You observe the world outside through an expanse of tinted glass. If you are a passenger, unobtrusively sited rear reading lamps let you read or work at night without interfering with the

The 450SEL is a sensibly complete car. It's fully equipped right from the start, and priced to reflect its essential honesty. What few items of optional equipment you might consider adding have more to do with your own sense of aesthetics, rather than engineering, Even so, the list is startlingly short. It includes such ultra-refined touches as an electric sunroof, heated seats, lightalloy wheels or rear-sear headrests.

Appeals to the senses

You enter the Mercedes-Benz 450SEL through doors, front or rear, that open a full 36 inches wide. Close the doors and you're wrapped in a sure, secure and satisfyingly luxurious environment. You savor satiny, premium leather-or, if it's more to your taste, rich velour. You settle into wide, anatomically correct seats, finaly sprung, whose individual suspension is actually tuned to the car's own suspension. You notice that all interior surfaces are padded and finished for safety as well as sumptuousness.

You defy the elements with a climate control system designed to automatically maintain the precise temper-. ature you prefer at any setting between driver's vision. Adjustable stereo speakers bathe you in sound at the touch of a switch. You cruise even the roughest roads with confidence, the result of the 450SEL's synergistic combination of independent suspension, 116.7-inch wheel-base and welded-not bolted-monocoque construction.

As you ride, you appreciate why 450SEL's must be assembled at so slow a rate. Time is lavished on hundreds of individual hand operations. Human touches, loving attention to detail that makes the 450SEL an automobile few -if any-automobiles in the world can even hope to match.

Appeals to the intellect

The 450SEL comes to you with a complement of safety, performance and comfort features - as standard equipment - that is almost unheard of these days. Your Dealer can give you the details.

sh we had 121/2-milon this year, maybe Donald Debord, an tion that represents ry from grower to "Our problem

Even so, this year's crop is 11.7-million acres, up sharply from the pre-vious year's 9.6 million. And the outlook for next year is for an even higger planting, on the order of 12.5 million to 13 million acres.

The reason, of course, is price. Up-land cotton, the industry standard, is currently selling for nearly 77 cents a pound, compared to a aeason average of 50 cents a pound for 1975.

So dramatic and sustained has been the price increase that there is some fear that it will have a long-term negative effect; with cotton selling in the 70-cent range and polyester in the 50 cent range, as is the case at present, there is strong pressure on manufac-turers to continue the switch to manmade fiber, just as the cotton industry is beginning to stop and possibly even reverse that trend.

One possibility, according to a well-placed source in the cotton industry, is pressure from the cotton producers to ease restrictions on imports of cotton, maintaining price stability and slowing a possible stampede to polyester.

Cotton demand is up worldwide, but even more important is that cotton on hand—the expected harvest plus what was carried over from previous years -is very close to the expected total need, and may fall short. The carryover from last year was a very skimpy 3.7 million bales (six to seven million is considered more nearly normal). This is considered more nearly normal). This is a far cry from 10 years ago, when falling demand and a record crop pro-duced an accumulated carryover of nearly 17 million bales—well over the crop that year—with a resulting price crash to 22-cents a pound.

. Since then, prices have been steadily up and this year soared well over expectations.

The story of the cotton renaissance, moreover, is more than simply eco-nomic and agricultural-it is almost a primer of the New South-a tradition-primer of the New South—a tradition-steeped region that is meeting the in-dustrial North on its own battleground with new techniques and new sophis-tication and if not precisely winning, at least beginning to hold its own. "The cotton industry has suffered from a lack of funding to confront man-made fibers in the battle for the market," said Gaylon Booker, director of market research for the Cotton Council. "Now, we're strongly com-mitted to the principal that we must have a strong program of research and promotion." For decades, as man-made fibers cut ated. Its headquarters were placed in New York City and a research and de-velopment facility built in North Carolìna

The reasons were compelling. In 1920, when man-made fibers, rayon and acetate, first began to appear as a commercial reality, they commanded a negligible three-teachs of one percent of the market at the mills. Cotton held 88 percent. Wool, was about 10 percent, and small amounts of imported flax and silk accounted for the rest. By 1930, cotton's share had slipped

In each case, the lobbying was done by employees of corporations that would by employees of corporations that would have been affected adversely by new laws. The incidents were evidence that American businesses are increasingly dis-covering---and using---a latent political force: their own employees. The advent of tighter air pollution standards has also produced an increase in corporate lobbying. One of the most extensive lobbying campaigns by employees occurred three years ago, when employees of Pan Ameri-can World Airways round the world raised many tens of thousands of dollars to finance a campaign auxiest what the to finance a campaign against what the airline claimed was discriminatory treatment toward it. lower. The reason for the pronounced shift in the credit market, of course, is that $4.5 billion increase in the nation's basic money supply that was announced last Thursday afternoon.

Like so many drama critics, money market analysis over the weekend sought, to recepture the excitement of the big increase in money. "A veritable moon shot," said Paine Webber, Jackson & Cur-tis, "A real shocker," commented Aubrey G. Lanston & Company. "Impossible to ignore," asserted John Noveen & Company. "Dramatic and, to a large extent, un foreseen," said Salomon Brothers.

Average Volume Increased

For all the astonishment over the increase in the money supply, it has in-creased the average volume of checking account balances plus currency to $308.8 billion, or only $1.5 billion above its $307.3 billion level in mid-Angust. Even with its record increase disclosed last week, the basic money supply was still growing within limits sought by the Federal Reserve. As a result, most money market ana-lysis do not believe the Federal Reserve lysis do not believe the reactal Reserve will tighten monetary conditions to slow down money growth, which is expected to flatten out in the weeks shead anyway. LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14-Business is going up in smoke and that means money in the bank for Fred B. Block,

Mr. Block, 30, is the president of the Olfactory Corporation, one of the nation's largest manufacturers of incense with sales of more than $2 million last year. The Los Angeles company sells its incense in stick form in 25,000 re-tail outlets in the United States and Western Europe. It is sold in Long Island supermarkets as well as to stores catering to flower children in Barkeley, Calif.

Berkeley, Cain. "Everybody is buying incense these days," said Mr. Block, a short, slight man with an easy smile. "It used to be that only little old ladies and hippies bought incense but now middle-class suburban families do too."

In fact, according to a recent survey by the American Incense Manufacturers Association, the typical buyer is a 30-year-old college-educated housewife with an income of over $10,000.

Mr. Block discounts the view that incense is popular because people use it to hide the smell of marijuana.

"People used incense long before marijuana became popular," explained Mr. Block. "The nice thing about incense is that you don't have to be in

Dr. Joseph Zimmerman, vice president of the Miles Metal Corporation and an 85-year-old veteran of the cop-per business, puts the matter this way: "Thus far there is no evidence of any great acceleration in the wheels of coounerce and industry. Copper consumers seem to be just as hesitant to rush in and buy as they were a few months ago simply because there has been no great improvement in demand for fabricated products."

Wire mills operate at 75 per cent of capacity and brass mills at a lower rate, and recently the Commodity Research Bureau, the industry's research organization, noted that some brass and bronze ingot makers recently cut prices only a month after raising them. . .

Majnon, and has an option to buy the rest at international prices. General Araken de Oliveira, presi-dent of Petrobras, said the well tests at Majnoon indicated a minimum pro-duction of 300,000 barrels a day, which could rise to 600,000 barrels daily with further drilling further drilling. Brazil'a current national production is 175,000 barrels a day while imports are currently 700,000 barrels daily, at a cost of $3.2 billion. Consumption is expected to rise to 1.2 million barrels by 1980, with imports of 800,000 barrels a day.

Oil-Import Burden

The burden of oll imports for Brazil's industrialized economy is so heavy that it now takes all of this country's coffee and soybean exports to pay for oil imports.

This has forced Petrobras to under take oil-exploration ventures not only in Brazil, where results have been meager over the last 20 years, but also in oil countries abroad under risk con-tracts. By these terms, Brazil runs the risk of losing capital if no oil is found, but puts its money where the oil pros-pects are better than at home.

pects are better than at nome. The Iraqi venture has cost Brazil $30 million, according to General de Oliveira. With the discovery of oil, the exploration costs will be paid by Iraq, and development costs for the field will be shared according to the pro-duction taken by each country. Petrobras has also entered into risk contracts for exploration in Libva and Algeria, and is studying a venture in Egypt.

Exploration efforts in Brazil, with an annual budget of $1 billion, have found an offshore field along the Atlantic coast off Campos, in the state of Rio de Janeiro.

Outlook at Campos

Petrobras bas announced that pro-duction from the Campos offshore field should reach 60,000 barrels a day when commercial production begins next

The state oil company also announced recently that drilling in the mouth of the Amazon River off the territory of Amapa had produced indications of oil-bearing structure, with some gas production

The Amapa offshore area is one of the 10 regions in this country that Petrobras has offered for risk contract exploration to private oil companies. The companies accepted as possible bidders include Exxon, Shell and Elf/ Erap, but no contracts have yet been signed. According to oil-industry sources the terms offered by Petrobras, which has a monopoly on oil production in Brazil, are not very attractive in view of the uncertainties over the existence of large new oil deposits in Brazil.

Rockwell Sponsored Campaign

The most extensive employee lobbying effort recently was one admittedly sponsored by the Rockwell International Coron to keep the B-1 bomber project

In company newspapers, in leaflets is-sued to employees and posted on office and factory bulletin boards, and in-plant public address system announcements, Rockwell's 119,000 employees were urged by company executives to write to Congressmen urging them to vote for the project. The main appeal the company used was that saving the bomber project was vital to saving jobs—an appeal that prompted a handful of employees at Rockwell's Ad-miral division, which makes appliances, to protest that their jobs had nothing to do with the bomber project, and that they were being put under unfair pressure to save it.

Company officials involved in the letcompany officials involved in the let-ter-writing campaign acknowledged that there "may" have been isolated cases of a supervisor's giving employees a hard-sell oo the matter. But they insist such cases were exceptions, that no effort was made to check which employees wrote letters, and that all that was done was to point out to the workers that Rockwell had a big stake in the project, and that the bomber was important to oational security mendous marketing push by the poly-ester giants, Du Poot, Celanese and Eastman. Du Pont in particular persuaded mills to use their blend ratio. of 65 percent polyester and 35 cotton, backed by a massive consumer advertising program that benefited the mills-so long as they used that blend. "It was," said Mr. Booker, the cotton marketing research director, "a tremendous asset for the manufacturer of the shirt or the sheet. "Up to the mid-60's, poly was sell-· Up to the mid-60's, poly was sell-ing for a dollar-plus a pound and cot-ton was in the 20-odd cent range— and cotton was still losing to poly-ester, and we were losing oo a func-tional property--primarily ease of care and durability."

Meanwhile, the cotton interests con-tinued to promote 100 percent cotton and the housewives didn't buy it.

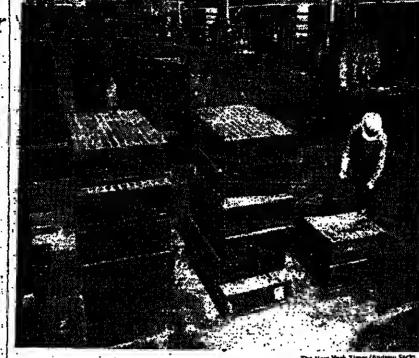

"We decided," said Mr. Booker, "that we had very little chance to alter the blend level against the tremendous ex-penditures they were spending to adve-cate 65-35 or 50-50 blends." It was later that the Cotton Council decided to begin fighting the polyester interests on their own terms. Each participating grower agreed to a "check-off" on production of $1 a bale. The money was to be used for new product research and promotion by a new or-ganization, Cottoo Incorporated.

ganization, Cottoo Incorporated. By June of 1974, Cotton Incorporated, funded by about $12 million from the growers, had created what is called Natural Blend — 60 percent cotton 40 percent mao-made fiber. To go with it, there was even a "cotton mark" similar in concept to the Wool Mark used suc-cessfully by the woolen industry to heighten the image of their products. The cotton, industry had begun to

The cotion industry had begun to capitalize on something it had known for some years, and which its field market research was confirming over-wbelmingly-men prefer cotton shirts, but women prefer easy-care shirts. And women buy almost all the shirts. Natu-ral Blend satisfied both.

In 1971, cotton had 37.4 percept of 17.91 19.00 32.85 31.18 12.60 12.80 N.A. N.A. the mill fiber market; in 1973, it had fallen again to 34 percent, and by 1973 to 30 perceot. But in 1974, the decline stopped, and even increased a few 15.49 11.45 tenths of a percent. In 1975, it fell again, but only slightly to just over 29 percent. And now it appears to be hold-ing there, perhaps increasing slightly.

new Natural -Blend fabric.

But there are new approaches as well. Cotton Incorporated is pursuing research on new products. The New York City Fire Department last year adopted fire resistant cotton uniforms, made of Fire Stop, a Cottoo locorporated innovation.

There is extensive research underway on developing cottoo strains that insects do not like, on new methods of increasing yields, and, of developing new uses not only for cotton fiber, but for the byproducts, cottonseed and cottonseed oil.

Already there have been unsuccessful attempts to commercially produce a high protein flour milled from cottonseed, a process that involves removal of seed components that are harmful if ingested. The success of the oew approaches is not yet fully known but it is clear that cotton has managed to turn a rout into a standoff.

And last week the Cotton Council began a program of approaching its member growers with a proposal to increase their contribution to the work of Cotton Incorporated. It is hoped that the ageocy can double its budget."

in New York reporting warehouse stocks totaling 780,000 short tons. These are major centers for world copper trading either through spot pur-copper tracing either through spot pur-chases or through futures. Morton L. Schultz, a first vice presi-dent of Bache, Halsey Stuart Inc., re-ports that bargain hunters are buying copper through dealers at a substan-tial discount under producers' prices. "I don't see much improvement in de-mand and prices in the rest of this quarter, but I do expect a modest improvement in the fourth quarter," he said, adding that much would depend on the length of the auto strike. Mr. Scbultz is assistant manager of the Bache metal department, a large dealer in copper.

Coffee Drinking Off

Coffee consumption in this country keeps moving down. The factory worker who drank 4.54 cups o day in 1962, and 2.91 cups in 1975 is drink-ing 2.76 cups daily this year. High prices are one deterrent.

prices are one deterrent. Yet Brazil, the world's largest coffee producer, keeps buying coffee from other nations in a coals-to-Newcastle operation to keep prices up. All this makes the coffee price situation worth watchiog. In recent months Brazil, whose harvest was down quite sharply this year, has bought coffee from the Ivory Coast and some other mainland Af-rican nations as well as the island Malagasy Republic (also known as Madagascar).

The imported coffee is used by Brazil for its freeze-dried and instant varieties, allowing the Brazilians to ex-

Commodity experts, while ooting that some buyers still bid frantically for coffee at today's high prices of more than $1.50 a pound unroasted, wonder how long it will last, "Sooner or later consumption declines have to be re-flected in lower prices," one said.

Smaller Hershey Bars?

Will Hershey Foods, the big chocolate maker, cut the size of its bars or raise the unit price? Commodity ex-perts are as interested in finding an answer to that question as most chocolate muochers will be. Hershey will say ooly that the matter is under consideration.

Cocoa prices have been soaring this year, and recently they reached a record high of more than $1.16 a pound in terms of the December delivery on the New York Cocoa Ex-livery on the New York Cocoa Ex-change. The immediate reason was a spate of reports from Ghana, the world's largest producer, that its crop is not so good as hoped. Other African nations also indicate small crops. Since cocoa is the major ingredient in cbocolate and Hershey is one of the nation's largest cbocolate makers, the price of one influences the actions of the other. Cocoa beans are ground, mixed with sugar and flavorings and the result is cbocolate. The only bright spot in the mix is sugar, which has been low-priced all year, and this could help keep a size cut or price rise smaller than otherwise.

The Commodity Research Bureau's index of futures prices (1976=100) closed at 202.0 last Friday. It stood at 203.9 the week before.

Capital Spending in 2d Quarter

Cut by Investor-Owned Utilities

Spending on new plant and equip-ment by the nation's investor-owned utili-ties dropped to $12.3 billion in the second quarter from the record $16.1 billion set in the like three mooths of 1975, the Conference Board, an independent business monitoring group, reported yesterday.

However, the board ooted that the out-lays in the second quarter, of which 95 percent were by electric utilities, were up 84 percent from the first three months of 1976, New capital spending by the electric utilities io the second quarter totaled $11.7 billion.

The Volkswagen Rabhil Diesel averaged 52 miles per gallon on the road and 39 in town for an overall average of 44 miles per gallon. The Toyota Corolla was second best at 41 m.p.g. overall. Another new Volks-wagen, the Dasher Diesel, was third at 40 m.p.g.

40 m.p.g. The worst mileage 9 miles per gallon in city driving came in four large Dodges and Plymouths with eight-cylinder, 440-cubic-inch enginés. Volkswagen sald that its diesels would appear io showrooms about the middle of next year.

The environmental agency has yet to test Hondas, which ranked high last year, or two diesels made hy Mercedes and or two diesels made hy Mercedes and Peuge L. For the first time, the agency estimated what fuel would cost yearly for each car. The information will be on the window sticker for consumers to study. The Volkswagen Rahhit Diesel was estimated to oeed $188 in fuel while the hig Dodges and Plymouths would cost $886, based on fuel costing 65 cents per gallon for unleaded gasoline and 55 cents for diesel fuel, and an average of 15,000 miles driven a year.

The agency said the combined city-highway mileage figure was calculated by taking 55 percent of the city mileage
